

Announcing Free Continuing Education

During this COVID-19 crisis, the Nurse Practitioner Healthcare Foundation applauds all healthcare workers on the front lines for their courage and dedication. They are risking their own health to save lives. NPHF thanks you for your work during these challenging times.

To support those who need nursing CE credits to maintain licensure and certification at this time, NPHF is pleased to offer two FREE new programs in obesity management that focus on practical strategies that you can implement during the first year of treatment. Clinical pearls from 3 expert faculty detail an obesity-related history and physical exam, and give specific suggestions for counseling regarding nutrition, physical activity, and prescribing anti-obesity medications. To access these educational programs, see below.

Program #1: An e-monograph - 2 CE credits, of which 0.5 credits are pharmacology. Click here to access this program.

Program #2: Podcast discussion with 3 expert faculty - 1.5 CE credits, of which 0.5 credits are pharmacology. Click here to access this program.

The Nurse Practitioner Healthcare Foundation is an accredited provider of continuing nursing professional development by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

2647-134th Avenue NE • Bellevue, WA 98005-1813
425-861-0911 Office • 425-861-0907 Fax • www.nphealthcarefoundation.org

Forward to a Friend Sign Up Manage your Subscription Unsubscribe View the Web Version

Subscribe to our email list.