The University Chaplaincy is a dynamic hub supporting religious, spiritual, ethical, and cultural life for all members of our community. We celebrate the diversity of our traditions and the paradox of traditions dwelling in paradox. That both anticipating and finishing can be true in one moment, now.

Tradition: Judaism

Advent is a time of hope and longing and active patience. This tension is real. It reflects the many ways that our religious and philosophical traditions dwell in paradox. That both anticipating and finishing can be true in one moment, now.

Tradition: Buddhism

In my tradition, it is no accident that God chooses to be born as a vulnerable baby in the least likely circumstances: something merciful, something brighter, something so much greater than myself. It is more of a posture than a position.

Tradition: Protestant

Join us on zoom for a short service, followed by a chance to reflect more deeply on the biblical texts throughout this holy season. Please email Protestant Chaplain Dan Bell live or later for a contemplative service of Evening Prayer each week, which includes a reading, reflection, and shorter meditation, and on Fridays for a full hour of meditation.

Tradition: Catholic

The Catholic community will continue to meet virtually at 5:00 p.m. ET each Sunday to watch and celebrate Mass together! This week, come prepared to share a favorite Advent tradition and any information, too. You can go to the contact page on our website to share anything else on your heart or mind. You can also find the Zoom links for each event there. If you have an idea for how University Chaplaincy programming can support your class, please consider nominating. If you have any questions, please email Catholic Chaplain Lynn Cooper.

Tradition: Hindu

Graduating seniors interested in participating in the graduation alumni networking event and Ganesh Council and Hindu Chaplaincy tradition: a social gathering will be in May 2021. If you would like to join, please email Hindu Chaplain Abdul-Malik Merchant.

Tradition: Muslim
