A Diwali Reflection from the Hindu Advisor

Namaste dear friends,

As you read this, in our Tufts community and around the world, we have just celebrated Diwali – one of the most widely observed Hindu festivals. Meaning “a row of lights” in Sanskrit, Diwali is commemorated with the lighting of clay lamps known as diyas. Here, at Tufts, we sent Diwali kits to students containing Rangoli powders, a paper stencil, and an electronic tealight. To celebrate, we met for online Aarti, discussed the Rama Amar Chitra Katha, and ate together virtually.

While considered a world religion, Hinduism does not have a single scriptural text nor a single religious leader. Hinduism includes a spectrum of philosophical, spiritual, and religious practices, beliefs, and traditions. According to our scriptures, in particular the Ramayana, Diwali also commemorates the return of Lord Rama to Ayodhya after vanquishing the ten-headed Ravana.

We might contemporize the understanding of Lord Rama’s undertaking as that which any human being on the journey to enlightenment needs to undergo to overcome ten steps to Self-Realization. I interpret these ten steps to Self-Realization as related to the ten Yamas and Niyamas (dos and don’ts) of Sanatan Dharma. The five Yamas are 1) Ahimsa (Non-violence), 2) Satya (Truth), 3) Asteya (Non-stealing), 4) Brahmacharya (Behavior as God), and 5) Aparigraha (Non-hoarding). The five Niyamas are 1) Saucha (Cleanliness), 2) Santosha (Gratitude), 3) Tapas (Discipline), 4) Swadhyay (Study of Self) and 5) Ishvar Pranidhan (Surrender of Self).

In this sense, Diwali is a time for all of us to contemplate our being beyond the egoic domains of existence. I recently read the beautifully written book The Hidden Life of Trees by Peter Wohlleben, and learnt that trees live outside of principles of “survival of the fittest.” If one tree suffers, the whole community suffers. Using a complex, interrelated root system, the community sends nourishment to a member in need.

In these times, let us remember that our roots are interrelated. May the lights that illuminate the physical dimension imprint in our emotional, mental, and spiritual dimensions. May we embody the diya and find ways to illuminate our own life as well as those around us.

Dhanyavaadah and best wishes,

#TuftsGivingTuesday: Help Us Build a Brighter World on December 1

This year marks the 115th anniversary of the Tufts University Chaplaincy founding. Join us in celebrating the growth and vitality of our multifaith community through these years as we commemorate our past, celebrate our present, and creatively envision our future. On #TuftsGivingTuesday, we will share stories that highlight our commitment to creating an interdependent, brighter future together--across faiths, traditions, and worldviews. Our main goal is participation and gifts of any size are most welcome! Your generosity to the Friends of Goddard Fund will enhance our dynamic, multifaith programs and increase our capacity to serve all members of the Tufts community. We would be deeply grateful to see your gift on December 1.

Please visit our donation page to give today. If you have any questions, please email University Chaplaincy program coordinator Shelby Carpenter.

Diversity, Equity and Inclusion
Comedy Night With Zainab Johnson

The GSAS Community Fellows invite you to a night of community and conversation but with a twist: comedy!

Join us as we create a space to bring awareness and talk about DEI issues, where students and faculty can laugh, vibe and build community.

Zainab Johnson is a stand-up comedian, actress and writer, who was recently selected to be one of Variety's Top 10 Comics To Watch 2019. Zainab's comedy is based on her unique point-of-view, which was shaped growing up in Harlem as one of thirteen siblings in a Muslim family. After getting a degree in math and taking a job as a teacher, she quickly learned that she had a different calling. Zainab can be seen most recently in her appearance on Epix's Unprotected Sets and has made appearances on Late Night with Seth Meyers, BET's Comic View, MTV's Acting Out, and The Melbourne Comedy Festival. Zainab can next be seen as the series-regular role of Aleesha on the Greg Daniels Amazon series UPLOAD.

Comedy Night with Zainab Johnson

Wednesday, November 18, 8:00 p.m. ET

The Graduate School of Arts and Sciences (GSAS) Community Fellows invite you to a night of community and conversation but with a twist: comedy! Over the last several months we realize that diversity, equity, inclusion (DEI), and belonging have been at the forefront of many conversations. While these conversations are important and needed, they often come at an emotional cost. One aspect of underrepresented groups is their ability to overcome pain and find joy in the midst of it. Join the GSAS Community Fellows as they create a space to bring awareness about DEI issues, and create a space where the Tufts community can laugh and vibe. The event will welcome comedian Zainab Johnson, and you can register for the event here.

'Ecologies of Acknowledgement' Calls for Recognition of Occupied Land

September 8 - March 2021

This fall, the Tufts University Art Galleries (TUAG) is showing "Ecologies of Acknowledgment," a collaborative project between writer and interdisciplinary artist Sarah Kanouse and researcher and writer Nicholas Brown. The exhibition, which opened on Sept. 8, 2020, and will remain until March 2021, features a video installation and a framed letterpress print that consider the process of writing an impactful and lasting land acknowledgment. # THE VENERABLE FEMALE SCHOLARS OF ISLAM

The Venerable Female Scholars of Islam with Ustadha Zaynab Ansari

Starting November 28th- November 29th, 2020
Saturday & Sunday 10am-2pm EST

The Islamic intellectual tradition is rooted in four primary sources: the Book of God, the teachings of His Messenger (PBUH), the consensus of scholars, and the tools of juristic reasoning. A huge corpus of religious knowledge is the words of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH). Considering that the hadith literature plays such an important role in the spiritual, political, economic, and social lives of Muslims, it behooves us to explore the origins of this science. This workshop will examine the role of women in shaping, sharing, and securing the legacy of the Prophet, peace be upon him, through their work as Muḥaddithāt, scholars of the ḥādīth canon. Through their efforts, the intellectual foundations of Islam were preserved and transmitted for the benefit of future generations. We may have heard the story of Sayyidah Aisha, may God be pleased with her, but how much do we know about the women who came after her?

Who should apply?

Anyone with serious interest in the Islamic intellectual tradition, the intersections of spirituality and scholarship, and the role of women in preserving and transmitting the Islamic tradition.

For more information and to register, visit

ISLAMIC

The Venerable Female Scholars of Islam

Saturday and Sunday, November 28 - 29, 10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m EST

Join the Boston Islamic Seminary for a weekend workshop intensive focusing on the importance of women scholar in our faith. It is important to highlight that contributions from women scholars were integral to the preservation of religious tradition, such as the intellectual foundations of Islam, as we know it. The workshop will examine the role of women shaping, sharing, and securing the legacy of the Prophet (PBUH) through their work as Muḥaddithat, scholars of the hadith cannon. Everyone with a serious interest in the Islamic intellectual scholarship, and the role of women in preserving and transmitting the Islamic tradition is encouraged to attend the workshop.
