This email was sent to:
San Francisco, CA | 94102 US
101 Grove st

---

Potential disparities

We are pleased to announce the launch of our public website featuring the work we do and our commitment to advancing equity at ZSFG. We hope this space will reinforce to the communities that we serve that we are committed for vigilance and improvement. "We can't provide truly high-quality care until we have also resolved to make changes," said Dr. Hemal Kanzaria, ZSFG Medical Director.

Meet Dante King, Our New SFDPH Director

For many years, Dante King has focused professionally and personally on the advancement of justice and equity for the under-represented, under-acknowledged, and under-privileged communities and populations. Recently, he was appointed to the position of the SFDPH Director of Workforce Equity Strategies and Programs.

"I like making meaningful change, and I like results," he said. "I like seeing the impact of my work."King brings his deep expertise and experience to the work of the SFDPH. We connected with him to learn more about his approach, his experiences, and his priorities while at SFDPH.

"Health equity means everyone has a fair opportunity to live a long and healthy life. Those with the greatest needs and least resources require more efforts to equalize opportunities." He will bring his deep expertise and experience to the work of the SFDPH. We connected with him to learn more about his approach, his experiences, and his priorities while at SFDPH.

"Health equity means everyone has a fair opportunity to live a long and healthy life. Those with the greatest needs and least resources require more efforts to equalize opportunities." He will bring his deep expertise and experience to the work of the SFDPH. We connected with him to learn more about his approach, his experiences, and his priorities while at SFDPH.

"Health equity means everyone has a fair opportunity to live a long and healthy life. Those with the greatest needs and least resources require more efforts to equalize opportunities." He will bring his deep expertise and experience to the work of the SFDPH. We connected with him to learn more about his approach, his experiences, and his priorities while at SFDPH.

"Health equity means everyone has a fair opportunity to live a long and healthy life. Those with the greatest needs and least resources require more efforts to equalize opportunities." He will bring his deep expertise and experience to the work of the SFDPH. We connected with him to learn more about his approach, his experiences, and his priorities while at SFDPH.

---

An Equitable Approach to Workforce Priorities

This week we launched a new page dedicated to delivering the most equitable and compassionate health care. "Our commitment is to create an environment where everyone feels heard, respected, and valued," said Dr. Hemal Kanzaria, ZSFG Medical Director.

The Journey to Equity for the Rehabilitation Services Department

We connected with him to learn more about his approach, his experiences, and his priorities while at SFDPH. "I like making meaningful change, and I like results," he said. "I like seeing the impact of my work." King brings his deep expertise and experience to the work of the SFDPH.

"By focusing on patients' self-identified needs— housing, food, social services, etc.—health care teams can successfully build rapport with patients who have often experienced difficulty navigating health care," reported the study completed by Dr. Jack Chase and Dr. Jenna Bilinski from the Social Medicine Department.

"Providing everyone the same threshold for initiating interventions to address health challenges may represent equality, but giving everyone interventions that they need (i.e., equity) will be far more effective," reported the study completed by Dr. Neil Powe, Chief of Medicine at ZSFG.

---

PIPS Equity Efforts at ZSFG

We connected with him to learn more about his approach, his experiences, and his priorities while at SFDPH. "I like making meaningful change, and I like results," he said. "I like seeing the impact of my work." King brings his deep expertise and experience to the work of the SFDPH.

"By focusing on patients' self-identified needs— housing, food, social services, etc.—health care teams can successfully build rapport with patients who have often experienced difficulty navigating health care," reported the study completed by Dr. Jack Chase and Dr. Jenna Bilinski from the Social Medicine Department.

"Providing everyone the same threshold for initiating interventions to address health challenges may represent equality, but giving everyone interventions that they need (i.e., equity) will be far more effective," reported the study completed by Dr. Neil Powe, Chief of Medicine at ZSFG.