Calling all aspiring leaders! LMU Professor of Political Science, Dr. Michael Genovese, will be delivering the opening remarks at this year's conference. "LEADERSHIP FOR CHANGE IN AN UNCERTAIN WORLD" is the theme for the 2021 Student Global Leadership Conference. Students may attend as many or as few events as their schedules permit. For real-world implementation, students will have the opportunity to meet keynote speakers, attend virtual sessions, and develop their global leadership tools with students and delegates from around the world who want to make a difference. Hear from leading professionals in fields such as finance, technology, and social impact.

Registration is free. Students are urged to sign up at https://www.mymarketingcloud.com/leader/register/.

This virtual conference is based in London and allows you to connect with your peers and leading experts from around the world. There is no minimum age requirement, and participation is completely free. Whether you're a high school graduate or a career professional, this is your opportunity to experience the power of storytelling and build your own narrative for personal and cultural formation and for provoking violence or fostering peace. Participants will engage with local peacemakers, war-survivors, artists, and cultural heritage experts from around the world.

This virtual global program explores international entrepreneurship through interactive learning experiences, field visits, company tours, and engagement with experts. Students will learn hands-on skills in entrepreneurship, innovation, and leadership—skills that are part of the global economy. Join us this summer!

LMU Virtual Study Abroad – Summer Session II: War and Peace: Philosophical and Theological Perspectives (PHIL 3998 – 4 credits; Core: Faith and Reason; Engaged Learning Flag) – June 28 - August 6

Our summer program courses will take you abroad without leaving home. LMU students, and alumni are encouraged to attend. LMU's study abroad program is one of the most vibrant and dynamic in the United States. Students may draw upon a wide array of activities to round out their learning experience.

From the Office of National & International Fellowship (ONIF)

Fulbright is a flagship program of the U.S. Department of State. It is one of the most competitive international educational exchange programs available. ONIF offers guidance to help students and professionals from all disciplines and majors*.

APPLY TO FULBRIGHT NOW!

Fulbright Competition

The Fulbright competition is based on a competitive application process. Students may apply to the Fulbright competition while still a student, or after they have graduated. Fulbright seeks qualified individuals from all disciplines and majors to represent the United States in countries around the world. Fulbright provides opportunities for U.S. citizens to teach, conduct research, pursue graduate study, and exchange ideas. Students and professionals from all disciplines—undergraduate, graduate, and post-doctoral—are encouraged to apply.

Fulbright English Teaching Assistants (ETA) work in elementary schools, high schools, and universities in over 75 countries. They assist local teachers and serve as cultural ambassadors. ETAs receive round-trip airfare, a navigable living allowance, and health care.

Fulbright Student Grants

Graduate degree candidates and post-doctoral fellows (with one year or more of experience) may apply to the Fulbright Student Program to conduct research in one or more countries. The Fulbright Commission will arrange a minimum of six months of research time in the recipient’s field(s) of study at one institution. The Fulbright Student Program is for U.S. citizens only. Flights to and from the host country are the recipient’s responsibility. Fulbright Study/Research Grants provide opportunities to engage in meaningful cultural and professional development. The Fulbright Program supports international teaching, research, and scholarship.

Fulbright State Department professionals should apply to the Fulbright State Department. The Fulbright State Department offers scholarships for the exchange of professionals of all ages working in business, government, education, and the arts.
