Faculty Spotlight: Kate M. Chaffin

Kate M. Chaffin, MSSW, LAPSW, is Director of the Center for Career Development and Academic Exploration (CIRTL) in the Division of Undergraduate Education. Kate’s background is in clinical social work and she is passionate about helping students to make connections between the classroom and real-world experiences. Kate completed her MSSW degree here at UT in 2004, and then worked as a forensic social worker in the court system until 2008. She came to UTK to pursue her Doctor of Social Work (DSW) program that focused on teaching and learning. The DSW program was a three-year program that focused on teaching and learning, and it allowed Kate to bring her experiences as a social worker to the classroom. Kate also developed her own research project during her time at CIRTL. Her research project focused on social work education and how to incorporate social work into the classroom. Kate’s research project was successful and she was able to share her findings with other social work educators. Kate is a valuable member of the CIRTL team and she is dedicated to helping students to make connections between the classroom and real-world experiences.

Call For Proposals: 2022 Innovative Teaching & Learning Conference

The Center for Career Development and Academic Exploration’s (CIRTL) Winter Mini-Term (WMT) workshop. The topic is, “Expect the Unexpected: Navigating Changes to Produce Innovative Results” (Click here to register to attend this virtual workshop). The Mini-Terms provide unique opportunities to re-envision course instruction for a shortened, intensive model. January 2022 marks our first Winter Mini-Term, and today at 1pm is our last scheduled Winter Mini-Term workshop. The topic is, “First Term Series: Envisioning the Future” (Click here to register to attend this virtual workshop). The WMT series focus is on student participation in experiential learning across our campus, and enhance student learning and success.

To learn more about selecting the course for your Winter Mini-Term consultation, visit the Winter Mini-Term homepage below. Also, view our growing library of related resources by visiting our Online Learning & Academic Programs (OLAP) Winter Mini-Term homepage.

Future Workshops & Programs

Our Department is holding a variety of workshops and classes for the Fall semester. Please visit our webpage for more information. The workshops and classes we offer this Fall include topics such as career development, academic exploration, and teaching and learning innovation. The Fall semester offers a great opportunity to learn and grow as a faculty member.

Faculty Spotlight: Kate M. Chaffin

Kate M. Chaffin, MSSW, LAPSW, is Director of the Center for Career Development and Academic Exploration (CIRTL) in the Division of Undergraduate Education. Kate’s background is in clinical social work and she is passionate about helping students to make connections between the classroom and real-world experiences. Kate completed her MSSW degree here at UT in 2004, and then worked as a forensic social worker in the court system until 2008. She came to UTK to pursue her Doctor of Social Work (DSW) program that focused on teaching and learning. The DSW program was a three-year program that focused on teaching and learning, and it allowed Kate to bring her experiences as a social worker to the classroom. Kate also developed her own research project during her time at CIRTL. Her research project focused on social work education and how to incorporate social work into the classroom. Kate’s research project was successful and she was able to share her findings with other social work educators. Kate is a valuable member of the CIRTL team and she is dedicated to helping students to make connections between the classroom and real-world experiences.

Call For Proposals: 2022 Innovative Teaching & Learning Conference

The Center for Career Development and Academic Exploration’s (CIRTL) Winter Mini-Term (WMT) workshop. The topic is, “Expect the Unexpected: Navigating Changes to Produce Innovative Results” (Click here to register to attend this virtual workshop). The Mini-Terms provide unique opportunities to re-envision course instruction for a shortened, intensive model. January 2022 marks our first Winter Mini-Term, and today at 1pm is our last scheduled Winter Mini-Term workshop. The topic is, “First Term Series: Envisioning the Future” (Click here to register to attend this virtual workshop). The WMT series focus is on student participation in experiential learning across our campus, and enhance student learning and success.

To learn more about selecting the course for your Winter Mini-Term consultation, visit the Winter Mini-Term homepage below. Also, view our growing library of related resources by visiting our Online Learning & Academic Programs (OLAP) Winter Mini-Term homepage.

Future Workshops & Programs

Our Department is holding a variety of workshops and classes for the Fall semester. Please visit our webpage for more information. The workshops and classes we offer this Fall include topics such as career development, academic exploration, and teaching and learning innovation. The Fall semester offers a great opportunity to learn and grow as a faculty member.

Faculty Spotlight: Kate M. Chaffin

Kate M. Chaffin, MSSW, LAPSW, is Director of the Center for Career Development and Academic Exploration (CIRTL) in the Division of Undergraduate Education. Kate’s background is in clinical social work and she is passionate about helping students to make connections between the classroom and real-world experiences. Kate completed her MSSW degree here at UT in 2004, and then worked as a forensic social worker in the court system until 2008. She came to UTK to pursue her Doctor of Social Work (DSW) program that focused on teaching and learning. The DSW program was a three-year program that focused on teaching and learning, and it allowed Kate to bring her experiences as a social worker to the classroom. Kate also developed her own research project during her time at CIRTL. Her research project focused on social work education and how to incorporate social work into the classroom. Kate’s research project was successful and she was able to share her findings with other social work educators. Kate is a valuable member of the CIRTL team and she is dedicated to helping students to make connections between the classroom and real-world experiences.

Call For Proposals: 2022 Innovative Teaching & Learning Conference

The Center for Career Development and Academic Exploration’s (CIRTL) Winter Mini-Term (WMT) workshop. The topic is, “Expect the Unexpected: Navigating Changes to Produce Innovative Results” (Click here to register to attend this virtual workshop). The Mini-Terms provide unique opportunities to re-envision course instruction for a shortened, intensive model. January 2022 marks our first Winter Mini-Term, and today at 1pm is our last scheduled Winter Mini-Term workshop. The topic is, “First Term Series: Envisioning the Future” (Click here to register to attend this virtual workshop). The WMT series focus is on student participation in experiential learning across our campus, and enhance student learning and success.

To learn more about selecting the course for your Winter Mini-Term consultation, visit the Winter Mini-Term homepage below. Also, view our growing library of related resources by visiting our Online Learning & Academic Programs (OLAP) Winter Mini-Term homepage.

Future Workshops & Programs

Our Department is holding a variety of workshops and classes for the Fall semester. Please visit our webpage for more information. The workshops and classes we offer this Fall include topics such as career development, academic exploration, and teaching and learning innovation. The Fall semester offers a great opportunity to learn and grow as a faculty member.

Faculty Spotlight: Kate M. Chaffin

Kate M. Chaffin, MSSW, LAPSW, is Director of the Center for Career Development and Academic Exploration (CIRTL) in the Division of Undergraduate Education. Kate’s background is in clinical social work and she is passionate about helping students to make connections between the classroom and real-world experiences. Kate completed her MSSW degree here at UT in 2004, and then worked as a forensic social worker in the court system until 2008. She came to UTK to pursue her Doctor of Social Work (DSW) program that focused on teaching and learning. The DSW program was a three-year program that focused on teaching and learning, and it allowed Kate to bring her experiences as a social worker to the classroom. Kate also developed her own research project during her time at CIRTL. Her research project focused on social work education and how to incorporate social work into the classroom. Kate’s research project was successful and she was able to share her findings with other social work educators. Kate is a valuable member of the CIRTL team and she is dedicated to helping students to make connections between the classroom and real-world experiences.

Call For Proposals: 2022 Innovative Teaching & Learning Conference

The Center for Career Development and Academic Exploration’s (CIRTL) Winter Mini-Term (WMT) workshop. The topic is, “Expect the Unexpected: Navigating Changes to Produce Innovative Results” (Click here to register to attend this virtual workshop). The Mini-Terms provide unique opportunities to re-envision course instruction for a shortened, intensive model. January 2022 marks our first Winter Mini-Term, and today at 1pm is our last scheduled Winter Mini-Term workshop. The topic is, “First Term Series: Envisioning the Future” (Click here to register to attend this virtual workshop). The WMT series focus is on student participation in experiential learning across our campus, and enhance student learning and success.

To learn more about selecting the course for your Winter Mini-Term consultation, visit the Winter Mini-Term homepage below. Also, view our growing library of related resources by visiting our Online Learning & Academic Programs (OLAP) Winter Mini-Term homepage.

Future Workshops & Programs

Our Department is holding a variety of workshops and classes for the Fall semester. Please visit our webpage for more information. The workshops and classes we offer this Fall include topics such as career development, academic exploration, and teaching and learning innovation. The Fall semester offers a great opportunity to learn and grow as a faculty member.