Henry Inman Portraits at the Peabody

Contributed by Ryan Wheeler

The Peabody collection includes three distinctive oil paintings attributed to the artist Henry Inman (1801-1846). The paintings are part of a larger collection created by Inman to produce the hand colored lithographs that appeared in the three volumes of The History of Indian Tribes of North America (1836-1844). Read on to learn more!

Artifacts Return

Contributed by Marla Taylor

Despite both the Addison and Peabody closing to visitors due to Covid-19, their work behind-the-scenes has not stopped. After close to a year on loan to the Addison for their exhibition, A Wildness Distant from Ourselves: Art and Ecology in 19th Century America, ten objects are returned to the Peabody. Read on for more about this transport!

Out of the Basement and into the Basement

Contributed by John Bergman-McCool

After four months of working remotely from home, our Peabody Inventory Specialists are returning to their collection work at the Peabody. Alternating weeks for health purposes during Covid-19, our inventory specialists can now continue their original inventory work. Read on to learn more about their experiences!

TRENDING NOW

• Check out the Peabody's Youtube series and videos here!
• Through August, all but the latest issue of the Massachusetts Archaeological Society Bulletin are available to read for free online. Explore it all here!

SUPPORT THE PEABODY

GIVE NOW

© 2020 | Web version | Forward | Manage Preferences | Unsubscribe | Subscribe to our email list.