The Peabody is proud of our longstanding commitment to being the stewards of community belongings and the work we undertake to return ancestors and belongings to their families and communities. In this newsletter learn more about our repatriation efforts. We are also proud to highlight the life of LeRoy Jimerson Jr. '41, a notable Native American alumnus of Phillips Academy.

Reflections on Repatriation
Contributed by Marla Taylor
The Peabody has always had a commitment to working with tribes and Indigenous peoples to ensure that ancestors, funerary belongings, sacred objects, and objects of cultural patrimony are repatriated in a respectful and timely fashion. Read on to learn more about the repatriation process and the Peabody’s current repatriation efforts.

Leroy Jimerson Jr. ’41: From Gowanda to Gemini
Contributed by Ryan Wheeler
Today’s Phillips Academy students often ask about the students of the past. Since November is National Native American Heritage Month, the topic of Indigenous alumni often comes up. Learn about the life and work of PA alumnus, LeRoy Spencer Jimerson, Jr. below!

Hotevilla Glassworks
- To celebrate National Native American Heritage Month, the Peabody would like to highlight another native artist and educator - Ramson Lomatewama - from Hotevilla, Arizona. Ramson is the first and only Hopi glassblower as well as a traditional katsina doll carver, jeweler, published poet, and consultant. Ramson currently teaches classes at the Hopitutuqayki (The Hopi School), an arts apprenticeship program located on the Hopi reservation. The Peabody was fortunate to host a talk with Ramson and Sarah Driscoll’s English class earlier this fall and look forward to future engagements with Ramson and his art.
