On the Cover
Hotevilla Glassworks
- To celebrate National Native American Heritage Month, the Peabody would like to highlight another native artist and educator - Ramson Lomatewama - from Hotevilla, Arizona. Ramson is the first and only Hopi glassblower as well as a traditional katsina doll carver, jeweler, published poet, and consultant. Ramson currently teaches classes for the Borderlands High School’s Native American Studies Program, and is the Director of the Hopi School’s arts apprenticeship program. The Peabody was fortunate to host a talk with Ramson and Sarah Driscoll’s English class earlier this fall and look forward to future engagements with Ramson and his art.

Reflections on Repatriation
Contributed by Marla Taylor
The Peabody has always had a commitment to working with Indigenous communities to ensure their ancestors, funerary belongings, sacred objects, and objects of cultural patrimony are repatriated in a respectful and timely fashion. Read on to learn more about the repatriation process and the Peabody’s current repatriation efforts.

Leroy Jimerson Jr. ’41: From Gowanda to Gemini
Contributed by Ryan Wheeler
Today’s Phillips Academy students often ask about the students of the past. Since November is National Native American Heritage Month, the topic of Indigenous alumni often comes up. Learn about the life and work of PA alumnus, LeRoy Spencer Jimerson, Jr. below!

Home to Cape Cod
