A Note from our University Chaplain

Dear friends,

Last week, I scurried with my umbrella and soaked in the change of seasons as late September thunderstorms drenched campus. Amidst this noisy rain, I was reminded of a spring storm in Vermont earlier this year that silently dropped cotton candy snow onto the Green Mountains. That time, I was in no hurry as I walked through the woods beneath a bluebird sky, beside mountain streams--some a soft trickle, others a turbulent torrent of water coursing under melting ice, cascading over boulders and fallen branches, all making their way down to the fields, lakes and plains below. There – and now again -- I thought of Wendell Berry's poem, "Our Real Work" which reads:

It may be that when we no longer know what to do we have come to our real work,

*and that when we no longer know which way to go
we have come to our real journey.*

The mind that is not baffled is not employed.

The impeded stream is the one that sings.

I love that final image, especially for this time of the semester when some in our community, especially amidst midterms, may be asking deep, even daunting questions about who they are and what they are for. I take solace in the truth of Berry's poetry, for when we take the time to live with our questions, there can be an opening, a breaking-through with creativity and authenticity much richer than we could have imagined. Ultimately, Berry suggests, this leads us into greater service to, and love for, ourselves and the world.

The chaplains and advisors of the University Chaplaincy are here to accompany you, to listen to the song of your life amidst the cacophony. Please join us for upcoming programs and events, or contact any of us directly to schedule a time for tea and conversation.

With gratitude for nature's seasons and all the seasons of our lives,

Reverend Elyse Nelson Winger
University Chaplain

Launch of the Interfaith Civic Studies Collaboration

On Wednesday, September 29, the University Chaplaincy hosted a launch of the Interfaith Civic Studies Program, a collaboration between the Jonathan M. Tisch College of Civic Life, Tufts' School of Arts & Sciences Department of Religion, and the Tufts University Chaplaincy funded by a generous grant from the Arthur Vining Davis Foundations (AVDF). The event included presentations and facilitated conversations, and enhanced connections between campus partners in this inaugural year. You can read more about the grant here, and in short summary, "The AVDF grant will contribute to the development of a 6-course sequence in interfaith civic studies at Tufts, provide opportunities for faculty professional development and course design, support a cadre of new 'student interfaith ambassadors' and support a Resident Fellow to facilitate interdisciplinary, interfaith discussions at Tufts.

Friday, October 15, 2:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. Departing from the Interfaith Center

Join Tufts Hindu Chaplaincy, HSC, and CAFE to visit our local Hindu temple, Shivalaya Temple of Greater Boston, on Friday, October 15 from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. We will visit the temple on this auspicious day when we celebrate the triumph of Goddess Durga over demon Mahishasura and the victory of Lord Rama over Ravana. Whether going to Shivalaya Temple is one of many visits or your first time, your presence is welcome. We invite students, faculty, and staff from across the Tufts community to journey with us, as we deepen our understanding of ourselves, each other, and our host communities. You can find visit details, as well as registration in this form. This form closes on Wednesday, October 13 at 12:00am ET.

Bhagavad Gita

As It Is

Biweekly reading and discussion group
Book, workbook, and meal provided

The Bhagavad-gita is universally renowned as a jewel of India's spiritual wisdom. As a theological and philosophical classic, the Bhagavad-gita summarizes the conclusions of the Vedas, the ancient scriptures written over 5000 years ago in the Sanskrit language. In every generation, over thousands of years, it has provided unceasing inspiration to thinkers, leaders, and spiritualists alike. Deepening our understanding of the Gita benefits from the company of others where we can discuss and question what we read towards applying the practical aspects in our day-to-day life.

Sign up for Be-Friend: Interfaith Friendship Project

This semester-long interfaith friendship project is designed for participants to go deep and to talk about the things that matter: our values, our sense of purpose, and our questions about life. You will learn the skill of active listening while experimenting with shared spiritual practices from different religious and philosophical traditions. Participating undergraduate students, graduate students, staff, faculty, and alumni will be paired in dyads and will commit to spending an hour together each week as well as an extra half hour in private reflection (virtual options are available). Students will be placed with other students, and the same for staff and faculty. Several of our multifaith chaplains have contributed to the program by offering a diverse array of spiritual practices, including nature walks, meditation exercises, listening to music, and deep reading—of poetry, art, the world, our lives and one another. Contact Catholic Chaplain Lynn Cooper if you are interested or have any questions. The program will begin the first week of October.

GUEST SPEAKER: DR. MAYS IMAD

BEARING WITNESS AS AN ACT OF LOVE, RESISTANCE, AND HEALING

Friday, October 8th, 2021

10:00 - 11:30am :: Zoom

In this interactive session, we will consider the notion of psychological trauma—why it happens and how it impacts our body and brain. We will examine the connections between stress and trauma and how stress can become traumatic when not managed. We will examine neuroscience of traumatic stress and its impact on our ability to engage, connect, and learn. We will reflect on the questions of how we will welcome our students and colleagues to our institutions and classrooms this fall and beyond? What can we, educators, possibly do to help attend to their mental health and ameliorate their exhaustion and distress, while at the same time, intentionally engaging in self-care? We will consider the imperative of self-care while caring for others. Last, we will examine the principles, notable misconceptions, and practical examples of trauma-informed care, and reflect on the connections between trauma-informed education, healing, and restorative justice.

Mays Imad is a neuroscientist and professor of Pathophysiology and Biomedical ethics at Pima Community College, the founding coordinator of Pima Community College's the Teaching and Learning Center (TLC), and a Gardner Institute Fellow. Dr. Imad is an AAC&U Senior Fellow within the Office of Undergraduate STEM Education. Dr. Imad's current research focuses on stress, self-awareness, advocacy, and classroom community, and how these impact student learning and success. Through her teaching and research she seeks to provide her students with transformative opportunities that are grounded in the aesthetics of learning, truth-seeking, justice, and self-realization.

2021 PARLIAMENT OF THE WORLD'S RELIGIONS VIRTUAL

2021 Parliament of the World's Religions

Saturday, October 16 - Monday, 18, 2021 CT, held virtually

The 2021 Parliament of the World's Religions will be the eighth convening and the first time that it will be hosted virtually. Recognized as the birthplace of the modern interfaith movement, the 1893 Parliament made history with its groundbreaking interreligious dialogues among leaders of Eastern and Western religious traditions, fostering understanding, cooperation and social harmony. The 8th Parliament of the World's Religions, hosted for the first time virtually, will bring together people of faith from around the world in an instant. The virtual Parliament is a safe way to gather the world's global interfaith movement and celebrate the enduring spirit and work of religious and spiritual communities striving toward a more just, peaceful, and sustainable world.
