Time to Get Creative

Young Life is a ministry where leaders enter into the lives of middle, highschool, and college students in order to share the Gospel. But now we are faced with a challenge: How do we continue to show up in students lives while also practicing healthy social distancing? Our leaders have had to get creative in order to be with our friends. Whether it be a simple game of disc golf, meeting in the park for lunch, going on walks, or just being outside a student's house while standing 6 feet apart, our leaders are doing anything they can to be in our friends' lives and share the Gospel. Ministry continues to happen across our area because our leaders will do anything for a chance to tell our friends the good news of Jesus Christ.

Monthly Spotlight

Out of College Leaders

We are very thankful to have leaders from UNC and Duke that are choosing to go be with their middle and high school friends. But we want to highlight here our leaders that have chosen to continue to show up for their friends even after graduation. Andrea Bustillos (pictured below) was a leader at Carrboro High School, graduated from UNC in 2019, and has continued to lead on the Young Life College team while in grad school for her masters in teaching. Matt and Aliza Nedimyer (Matt pictured below) have faithfully led at Culbreth Middle School while he has been a teacher at Culbreth and Aliza has been working towards her PhD at Carolina. We are so thankful to have caring adults willing to go be with middle, highschool, and college kids and proclaim the Gospel to them!
