Spotlight: P2P Breakfast With Santa 2025

Breakfast With Santa

"On Saturday, December 20, 2025 Parent to Parent hosted our second annual 'Breakfast With Santa' at Blue Mountain Community Church. After early morning pancake preparations were complete, the event began at 9:00am with Christmas music playing, families mingling, and a hearty menu of pancakes, scrambled eggs, sausage, fruit, and orange juice." P2P Family Story: Fabian's Story

"I am Fabian's mother. Fabian, my son, is 31 years old now. He was born with infinite innocence, and according to his doctor he acts like a 10-year-old boy. At the beginning it was hard for us to admit that he was going to stay in the house forever since he can't work or be independent. He is a very sweet boy and helps me with household chores. When he stopped going to school, he showed depression, and anxiety." Read More

Note From Parent to Parent

As we settle into Winter and welcome a brand-new year, we are still smiling about all the fun we had at The Parade of Lights and Breakfast with Santa. Seeing families come together to celebrate the season, share laughs, and make memories was the perfect way to close out the year.

January is a time for fresh starts, and at Parent to Parent we're looking forward to another year of connection and support. Parent to Parent connects families of children with developmental disabilities and special health care needs with other parents who understand their journey. Offering encouragement, shared experiences, and helpful resources along the way.

As we look ahead, we're excited for upcoming events and opportunities to gather and grow together. Our yearly Helping Parent Training is coming January 24th. This training is a wonderful way to learn, build confidence, and strengthen the support we offer one another as a community.

We're grateful for each of you and look forward to walking alongside our families throughout the year ahead. One season and one connection at a time.

Community Bulletin

Today, we're excited to launch three new OAR-funded resources focused on improving the health and wellness of autistic individuals. All of them are free and available online for autistic people, families, educators, and healthcare providers:

- Pathways to Wellness is a user-friendly e-book designed to support autistic individuals, their families, and professionals in promoting healthier lifestyles. Created by Eden II Programs, this resource offers simple, realistic strategies to improve nutrition and increase physical activity—two areas that are often challenging yet critical for long-term health and quality of life.
- Brain Club® Digital Resource Library for Healthcare helps people understand autistic health through the stories, experiences, and expertise of autistic people. This free online collection of webinars was developed by All Brains Belong VT to support both healthcare professionals and autistic people in improving health outcomes through neuroinclusive care.
- Appointment Mentor VR is an immersive, interactive virtual reality experience designed to help individuals on the autism spectrum build confidence and skills for navigating medical appointments. Created with autistic adults at nonPareil Institute, this game simulates a doctor's visit experience in a calm, repeatable environment.
