Fraternity and Sorority Life

Interested students are encouraged to check out each organization and see which one fits them best!

- For Fraternities, structured recruitment will occur the second week of classes, September 14-18!
- For Sororities, primary recruitment will occur the first week of school, September 9-12! Registration is required to participate in recruitment. Sign up by scanning the QR code!

Why join a Greek Organization?

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

Membership in a fraternity or sorority is a lifelong commitment; relationships created during college last well beyond graduation.

Membership in a fraternity or sorority is a lifelong commitment; relationships created during college last well beyond graduation.

Why join a Greek Organization?

- Fraternities and sororities allow students to meet many people through social events, service projects, recruitment, and intramural events. You'll quickly become connected to the university and the local community.
- Fraternities and sororities allow students to benefit from a strong support network of alumni and current students, which can be invaluable when it comes to navigating life after graduation.
- Fraternities and sororities provide opportunities for personal and professional growth, including leadership positions and service opportunities.
- Fraternity and Sorority Life

How to get involved?

- Visit the Greek Life website to learn more about Greek organizations on campus.
- Attend Greek Life events to meet members and learn about their organizations.
- Connect with members by attending organization events or joining Greek Life committees.
- Contact the Greek Life office to get involved.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.

At their cores, Fraternities and Sororities are philanthropic organizations steeped in decades of customs and traditions. The men and women of these organizations dedicate themselves to bettering our community through service and leadership development.