President's Message

Dear Lancer Families,

We are glad to put the 2020-2021 school year in the rear view mirror! We look forward to embracing normalcy in August, with mask free, on-campus education and no requirements for distancing!

And while I am enthusiastic about 2021-2022, my heart goes out to every Lancer as we look back on the past fifteen months. I recognize that you have suffered mightily and that you did not have the opportunity to participate 100% in the signature Salpointe high school experience. Read more...

CATCHING UP WITH

*Kiley
Reid*

Kiley Reid '05, a 2021 Salpointe Distinguished Alumni Hall of Fame inductee, is an award-winning novelist whose debut novel, Such A Fun Age, has gained international attention and was listed as a New York Times bestseller.

"I've loved storytelling and writing for a long time," Kiley said, "and Salpointe was a place where this obsession became concrete. Theater classes and productions were a wonderful introduction to dialogue, pacing and rhythms of speech. Cheerleading was a place where I learned how important it is to rely on others and to listen to and edit feedback. And my English classes were a huge source of inspiration in terms of craft and content. I will never forget Mr. Perri's chilling session on lynching in America, set to the soundtrack of Billy Holiday's Strange Fruit. And I distinctly remember Mrs. Demers explaining a critical chapter of the Odyssey and when the bell rang, cutting her off, I realized I'd completely forgotten the time and myself. This is a specific and wonderful feeling that seemed rare then but it's now a guiding principle that I strive to give my readers. Salpointe was wonderfully pivotal as an exploration in the magic of storytelling and the responsibility of an artist to unearth truths."

After graduating from Salpointe in 2005, Kiley attended Marymount Manhattan College where she earned her BFA in acting and a minor in religious studies. She started writing her first novel while applying for graduate school. Kiley later received her MFA from the Iowa Writers' Workshop where she is now a creative writing instructor.

Join the Carmelites in Prayer

Pope Benedict XVI and Pope Francis reminded and challenged the Carmelites: "Carmel teaches the Church how to pray." As a response, the Carmelites established CarmelPrays.com. This daily interactive Carmelite prayer hub offers text, video and audio of morning, evening and night prayer in the Sant'Angelo-Style. CarmelPrays also provides meditation tools and Carmelite music.

Sophomore: Three-time State Champion This Year

For many athletes, being part of just one state championship team during their four years in high school is a remarkable accomplishment. Sophomore Rylen Bourguet '23 was able to pull off the unthinkable: three state titles in one year! Rylen competed on the volleyball, soccer and beach volleyball teams, which all won state championships this past school year. Read more here.
