Applications for the 2022 ASSIP program are now open. If you know a student who may be interested, please forward this email by February 6, 2022 | 11:59 p.m.

ASSIP 2022 Session:
- Join Mason's Interdisciplinary Program in Neuroscience for a free screening of the documentary and discussion with panelists from IPN, LGBTQ+ Faculty/Staff Alliance, and Disability Services at Mason. Free Screening: Oliver Sacks: His Own Life
- Join Mason's Department of Mathematical Sciences for an opportunity to connect students and alumni while discussing job opportunities in academia, industry, and national labs. Mason Math Alumni / Student Conference
- Join Mason's Interdisciplinary Program in Neuroscience for a free screening of the documentary and discussion with panelists from IPN, LGBTQ+ Faculty/Staff Alliance, and Disability Services at Mason.
- January 28, 2022 | Noon to 1:30 p.m. | Virtual Climate Action Plan Townhall
- January 21, 2022 | 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. | Exploratory Hall, room 3301 or Zoom Mason Math Alumni / Student Conference
- Wednesday, January 19, 2022 log in to MasonLEAPS and search "Crucial Conversations Skillshop" to learn the skills for holding difficult conversations featured in "Crucial Conversations: Tools for Talking When Stakes Are High, Interests Clash, Feelings Run Deep" by Fernando Miralles-Wilhelm

Mason will recognize outstanding faculty with the expanded Presidential Awards for Faculty Excellence. These awards honor exceptional faculty members for their contributions to the mission.

Mason will also recognize outstanding faculty members for their contributions to the mission. The deadline for submitting nominations is Thursday, February 4, 2022

Mason Science community also has your back if you or your students feel a sense of overwhelm. As the new semester begins, we are coming off a winter break that offered at least some moments of rest and joy. If you were able to get some much-needed downtime, you begin the new year and the spring semester focused and productive. Go chase those lofty goals! We are here to support you.