Fused Glass Workshop with Hopi Artist, Ramson Lomatewama

This month, students and campus adults of Phillips Academy attended a fused glass workshop with Hopi artist, Ramson Lomatewama. Ramson is an award winning glass artist, kachina doll carver, and jewelry maker from Hotevilla, Arizona. He is the first hot glass artist from the Hopi Tribe. In this workshop, participants learned about fused glass and created their own pieces of art.

We've had a busy Fall season at the Peabody, including a student trip to Harvard's 25th annual Powwow and the accession of two maps. Learn more about these activities and explore a review of Angeline Boulley's book, Firekeeper's Daughter and our 2023 Peabody Strategic Plan.
