Dear Friends,

As we approach the month of Ramadan, which is a season of fasting, prayer, and charity for Muslims, I have been reflecting on the concept of spiritual nourishment. While many people might look at Ramadan from the outside as a month of deprivation, since it requires abstinence from food and drink for long hours, from the perspective of the faithful it is a time of spiritual feasting. The experience of the fast allows for the emergence of the spirit, in a way that is palpably different than in other times of the year. During a day of fasting, the servant of God is reminded of their reliance on Him in all of their affairs, and this recognition opens the door to a deeper connection and sense of fullness of spirit. With a sensation of physical vulnerability comes a sense of spiritual strength. While food nourishes our physical body, fasting nourishes our spiritual body.

The practice, then, represents a kind of paradox. Less is more. Going hungry leads to feeling full. Taking time away from our worldly activities (and spending it in spiritual reflection) adds to, not subtracts from, our success. Giving from what we have enriches us. By inviting us into this world of spiritual paradox, fasting creates the opportunity for transformation, bringing us out of our life as creatures of habit and into a more intentional state. This break in the flow of our lives allows for new energies and opportunities to emerge. A new way of relating to ourselves, to our bodies, to our perceptions of where our strength and power truly comes from.

As you enter these next weeks, I invite you to reflect on opportunities that might arise for you to break the flow of habit and open up to new possibilities. Where might you feel called to invite in a new practice or lay one down to rest for a while? What paradoxes might you embrace?

Wishing everyone a month of nourishment of the mind, body and spirit.

Peace and Blessings,

Najiba

Wednesday, March 8, from 7:30 p.m. - 8:45 p.m. at the Interfaith Center (58 Winthrop St)

Please join the Buddhist Chaplaincy and the Tufts Buddhist Mindfulness Sangha for a Kut ceremony with Helena Soholm. Helena will share about how her personal spiritual journey has led her to this path of psychology and indigenous wisdom. Anyone and everyone is welcome to join. Please contact Buddhist Chaplain Ji Hyang Padma with any questions, or for more information about, this gathering.
Join us for a timely evening conversation on bridging differences in a deeply polarized society. Together, we'll explore the why's and how's of listening, honoring, and even loving people we profoundly disagree with. Share your wisdom on orienting oneself in spaces of discomfort and learn sustainable bridging practices for your day to day lives. Please contact Humanist Chaplain Anthony Cruz Pantojas for more information.

True Colors Zine-Making
Tuesday, March 14, from 7:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m. at the LGBT Center
All queer students welcome!

Join True Colors, the LGBT Center and University Chaplaincy's interfaith queer student group, as we make zines together! No prior experience is needed, and all supplies will be provided. We will be chatting about the role of zines in queer resistance in recent decades, and brainstorm and create zines on topics of our choice. Feel free to bring friends! This will be a more relaxed, less structured meeting, and we will have snacks. If you have any questions, please email Lee at Lee.Romaker@tufts.edu or Dan at Daniel.Bell@tufts.edu.

Mediating Myth: Image and Object as Critical Intercessor
Friday, March 10, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. at Alumni Lounge or via Zoom

The 2023 Graduate Student Symposium of the Department of the History of Art and Architecture at Tufts University will convene to examine and broaden the concept of “myth,” and analyze how art and material culture inflect, perpetuate, and materialize myths. This is an expansive topic, as it includes traditional notions of storytelling and world-building, power plays like propaganda and/or ideology, and the ways in which marginalized or subversive groups can generate community strength through shared histories. To register, please visit sites.tufts.edu/mediatingmyth.
Religion and US Empire

Wednesday, March 15, from 12:00 p.m to 1:15 p.m. at Sophia Gordon Multipurpose Room
15 Talbot Avenue, Medford, MA

The United States has arguably always been an empire, and one with intimate ties to religion. Yet the relation between these social formations is anything but simple. Grasping the full force of their entanglement, past and present, requires a thorough rethinking of our notions of US empire and religion alike. Where and when do these formations converge? In what ways has US empire engendered new forms of religious life and thought? How have the cultural logics of religion facilitated processes of empire-building, as well as counter-imperial resistance? This panel discussion coincides with the recent release of Wenger and Johnson’s new edited volume, Religion and US Empire: Critical New Histories, in August 2022.

Upcoming Religious Celebrations and Observances

These events are drawn from the multifaith calendar maintained by the Office of Religious and Spiritual Life at Harvard Divinity School. To see more upcoming religious holidays and festivals, please follow the link to the Harvard Divinity School calendar.

Great Lent
Ongoing through Sat., Apr. 15, 2023
Tradition: Christianity-Orthodox
In Orthodox churches, the first day of Lent marks the beginning of the Great Fast, the final six weeks of a 10-week period leading up to Holy Week and Easter (Pascha). In the churches that follow the Gregorian calendar, Lent is a six-week observance (40 days excluding Sundays) beginning with Ash Wednesday and culminating in Holy Week. It is a time of repentance and sacrifice in preparation for Easter.

Nineteen Day Fast
Ongoing through Sun., Mar. 19, 2023
Tradition: Baha’i
A designated 19-day period of fasting each year immediately before the Bahá’í New Year. The fasting is seen as a period of spiritual preparation and regeneration for the new year ahead.

Ghambar Hamaspathmaedem
Thu., Mar. 16 – Mon., Mar. 20, 2023
Tradition: Zoroastrianism
Celebrates the creation of human beings and honors the souls of the deceased.

Naw Ruz
Mon., Mar. 20, 2023
Tradition: Baha’i
The seventh greatest festival, "New Day" is the first day of the Zoroastrian/Persian and Baha’i New Year. It falls on the spring equinox and symbolizes the renewal of the world after the winter. For Zoroastrians, Naw Ruz also celebrates the creation of fire that is symbolic of Asha, or righteousness. It is also the day on which Zarathustra received his revelation.

Ostara
Mon., Mar. 20, 2023
Tradition: Wicca/Paganism
Vernal Equinox, celebrating the equivalence of light and dark and the arrival of Spring.
