The Israeli Arts Fellowship (IAF) is a nine-week program designed to introduce you to various Israeli artists and art movements while building community around visual and performing art. The fellowship will meet Tuesdays at 7 p.m.

The fellowship offers funding for project materials, free dinners and snacks, creative workshops with Israeli artists, peer-lead learning, and collaborative artmaking spanning across a range of disciplines. Fellows will have the opportunity to engage with Israeli artists through interactive workshops and discussions, allowing them to explore and develop their artistic skills in a multicultural environment.

In light of the university's new initiative to make Tufts an antiracist institution, we have partnered with the local community to offer a series of events that address systemic racism and white supremacy. These events aim to promote diversity, equity, and inclusion on campus.

Holding Grief, Activating Hope, Seeking Justice: A Conversation with the Chaplains
Thursday, March 4, 2:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m. ET

Global Perspectives on Race, Justice and Equity with Professor Eddie Glaude, Jr.
Thursday, March 4, 5:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m. ET

We believe in the power of community and the importance of coming together to support one another. Whether it's through sharing a meal, discussing shared values, or engaging with diverse perspectives, we encourage you to participate in these events and continue the conversation around race and justice.

Please join the university chaplaincy's multifaith team for a panel and small-group discussions on grief, hope, and justice.
Sunday, March 7, 3:00 p.m. - 3:45 p.m. ET

We hope to see you there.
