Coded Bias Screening and Discussion

Wednesday October 13, 2021, 7 to 9 p.m., JC Cinema

Join Mason faculty and students to watch and discuss the documentary Coded Bias, which investigates bias in climate and weather events. Come with an interesting news item, share your thoughts, or just come to listen.

Research Symposium on Interdisciplinary Computing

October 8, 2021 | 2 to 3 p.m.

Faculty from across the university will come together to share their research with the Mason community.

Research Symposium on Interdisciplinary Computing:

This October for the Interdisciplinary Computing Research Symposium, Associate Professor, Physics and Astronomy, is conducting genomic analysis of managed Eastern black rhinoceros (Diceros bicornis) populations in institutions of the Association of Zoos and Aquariums (AZA). This project will aid in management and conservation of the critically endangered black rhinoceros by performing genetic analyses of individuals within the North American population.

Mason PhD's effort to save endangered black rhinos

Sunday, September 26 2021

In the News

FARO Technologies, Inc and Mason, Fairfax, VA announce partnership to advance scientific training and research expertise at our cutting-edge facilities will influence the next generation of scientists. The partnership gained media attention by John Hollis.

In front of the cameras, John Hollis captured the moment when Mason, Fairfax, VA and FARO announce partnership to advance scientific training and research expertise at our cutting-edge facilities will influence the next generation of scientists. The partnership gained media attention by John Hollis.

Strong collaboration can be a critical component to your and our college's success.

Ever since our early childhood days, we've been taught to share our toys and play well together. For many of us on a sports team, or in a musical band or orchestra, as Aristotle described, we learned the secret that the whole can be much greater than just the sum of its parts.

In order to achieve this power, it is crucial to work together in a respectful manner. This is why we encourage everyone to have a healthy and positive attitude. A positive attitude builds trust and confidence in each other, which makes it easier to work together.

It is also important to communicate with each other in a clear and concise manner. This helps to avoid misunderstandings and it shows that we are listening to each other.

Finally, it is important to respect each other’s opinions and ideas. This shows that we value each other and it helps to build a strong bond.

In conclusion, it is important to have a healthy and positive attitude when working together. A positive attitude builds trust and confidence in each other, which makes it easier to work together. It is also important to communicate with each other in a clear and concise manner and to respect each other’s opinions and ideas.

Powerful Partnerships: FARO

But that's not all who make this partnership great.

Passed away last year, was the world's first FARO-certified forensic science laboratory. The partnership gained media attention by Fernando Miralles-Wilhelm.

Powerful Partnerships: FARO

Passed away last year, was the world's first FARO-certified forensic science laboratory. The partnership gained media attention by Fernando Miralles-Wilhelm.

Powerful Partnerships: FARO

Saved endangered black rhinos

Wednesday, September 29 2021

In the News

FARO Technologies, Inc and Mason, Fairfax, VA announce partnership to advance scientific training and research expertise at our cutting-edge facilities will influence the next generation of scientists. The partnership gained media attention by John Hollis.

In front of the cameras, John Hollis captured the moment when Mason, Fairfax, VA and FARO announce partnership to advance scientific training and research expertise at our cutting-edge facilities will influence the next generation of scientists. The partnership gained media attention by John Hollis.

Strong collaboration can be a critical component to your and our college's success.

Ever since our early childhood days, we've been taught to share our toys and play well together. For many of us on a sports team, or in a musical band or orchestra, as Aristotle described, we learned the secret that the whole can be much greater than just the sum of its parts.

In order to achieve this power, it is crucial to work together in a respectful manner. This is why we encourage everyone to have a healthy and positive attitude. A positive attitude builds trust and confidence in each other, which makes it easier to work together.

It is also important to communicate with each other in a clear and concise manner. This helps to avoid misunderstandings and it shows that we are listening to each other.

Finally, it is important to respect each other’s opinions and ideas. This shows that we value each other and it helps to build a strong bond.

In conclusion, it is important to have a healthy and positive attitude when working together. A positive attitude builds trust and confidence in each other, which makes it easier to work together. It is also important to communicate with each other in a clear and concise manner and to respect each other’s opinions and ideas.

Powerful Partnerships: FARO

But that's not all who make this partnership great.

Passed away last year, was the world's first FARO-certified forensic science laboratory. The partnership gained media attention by Fernando Miralles-Wilhelm.

Powerful Partnerships: FARO

Passed away last year, was the world's first FARO-certified forensic science laboratory. The partnership gained media attention by Fernando Miralles-Wilhelm.