An Inauguration Week Reflection From Your University Chaplain

Dear Tufts community,

Happy Inauguration Week!

It is a busy time of year across our four campuses, and yet we take the time to celebrate our community on campus and beyond, engage in public scholarship and service, revel in the many artistic talents of students, and extend a robust welcome to President Sunil Kumar. From Community Day to the new Véxoa: We Know exhibit to, eventually, the ceremony on Friday, Tufts has been marking this occasion with creativity, reflection, and celebration.

Tonight, chaplains, student leaders, and musicians will add to this chorus with our gathering at 7:00 p.m. in Goddard Chapel. Through music, spoken reflections, and a collaborative art installation, students, chaplains and all participants will lift up our shared values hospitality and welcome. Please join us, and make this moment in the life of our community even more complete with your presence. We look forward to being together tonight in the glow of the chapel!

University Chaplaincy Event - TODAY!

Wednesday, October 4, 2023 at 7:00pm, Goddard Chapel

All are welcome for a festive, multifaith gathering to welcome President Kumar into the Tufts community featuring Shir Appeal, Ladies of Essence, and student leaders from our many religious and philosophical traditions. Chaplains and President Kumar will also speak.

Please join us as we celebrate the legacy of religious and philosophical life at Tufts, rooted in our Universalist heritage and alive across our diverse and vibrant communities. During the gathering, we will invite attendees to write their words of welcome or blessing for our new president on a paper oak leaf, which will be added to a special art installation created at this event which is inspired by the historic, stained glass oak leaves on one of the primary windows at Goddard Chapel. Student Life, TCU Senate, the University Chaplaincy, the Career Center, and the Tisch College of Civic Life are collaborating to create an alternative spring break experience for March 2024. The March 2024 break experience will be a pilot program which has the dual goals of (1) planning, creating, and implementing an experience that contributes to student learning, builds social connections, and serves the community in a meaningful way and (2) documenting, assessing, and analyzing the opportunities and challenges and making recommendations for March 2025 and beyond. Consistent with the civic engagement mission of the University, the alternative spring break program will give students an opportunity to learn about, engage with, and contribute to the community outside Tufts. As key peer leaders in this effort, the Alternative Spring Break Coordinators will work in partnership with the teams noted above to plan and implement the alternative spring break experience and assess the experience to make recommendations for future years. Current standing as a Tufts graduate or undergraduate student at the time of hire are welcome to apply.
