A NOTE FROM THE VICE PRESIDENT

Dear LSU families,

As the 2021–22 academic year winds down, I wanted to express my sincere appreciation for the privilege of partnering with you to help your Tiger be successful at LSU. I hope they have made new friends, become involved on campus, and learned valuable lessons, both inside and outside of the classroom.

If your Tiger graduated this semester, congratulations! Fewer than 7% of the world's population has earned a bachelor's degree, and your student is now among them. This is a significant milestone in their life and yours. I know you're proud of them. As they prepare for what's next, remind them to visit the LSU Olinde Career Center, which offers valuable resources to assist their transition into a career field or graduate school. It will be exciting to see what they achieve next! Even though they're leaving campus, they will always be a member of the LSU family – and so will you!

If your Tiger is returning to campus, we hope they can recharge their batteries before we welcome them back to campus in August. The summer is a great time to chat with your Tiger. Reflect on the progress, improvements, and developments they have made during the year. We hope you can have honest conversations about successes, challenges from the past year, opportunities, expectations, and goals for the coming year. The great thing about college is that every year can be a fresh start. It's never about perfection – it's about improvement.

If your Tiger has not already done so, summer is also the perfect time to explore resources provided by the Olinde Career
