businesses and organizations–so that, together, we can more effectively address the world's challenges.

The 6th International Symposium on Knowledge and Innovation is an annual conference that brings together researchers, practitioners, and policymakers to discuss the latest developments in knowledge management and innovation. The symposium is organized by the UNESCO-IHE Institute for Water Education, the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), and other development partners.

The 6th International Symposium on Knowledge and Innovation is scheduled for February 24-28, 2020, in The Hague, Netherlands. The conference will feature plenary sessions, panel discussions, and poster sessions on a variety of topics, including knowledge creation, distribution, and utilization; innovation and entrepreneurship; and the role of universities and other educational institutions in fostering innovation.

The symposium is open to all interested in knowledge and innovation, and registration is now open. For more information, please visit the symposium website.
