COVID-19- Implications for Fetal, Neonatal, and Maternal Health

The College of Health and Human Services (CHHS) is hosting a webinar with maternal and neonatal doctors to discuss the implications of COVID-19 on the health of mothers and infants. Dr. Uma Reddy and Dr. Rosemary Higgins will discuss the possible short and long-term implications for obstetrics and maternal health. Based on limited data available from geographic locations who experienced early peaks in the disease, recommendations have been made but there is a lot to learn. Current guidance for pregnant women and their infants will be covered in this session.

- Date: Monday, May 18, 2020
- Time: 12pm - 1pm
- Location: Virtual
- Registration
Earth Leadership Program

Future Earth is accepting applications for the Earth Leadership Program. The Earth Leadership Program prepares researchers to work together as effective agents of change by providing tools and perspectives to help participants cross traditional disciplinary and sector boundaries. Specifically, the training provided to fellows is built around a collaborative approach that values co-design with diverse stakeholders and prepares participants to develop and execute transdisciplinary projects.

The fellowship offers mid-career researchers working in the area of environmental sustainability an outstanding opportunity to develop as global leaders. If interested, please apply by May 29, 2020.

ISE Faculty Profiles

The ISE faculty directory is a tool for you to find others with complementing expertise and for external and internal audiences to find you! If you haven't yet submitted your research profile information for the directory, please complete this brief survey.

Upcoming Mason Events
Public Policy in the Pandemic Age

The Schar School of Policy and Government Alumni Chapter is organizing a panel on "How COVID-19 is Reshaping our Government, Economy, and Society". The panel will discuss the unprecedented challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic to the United States and the rest of the world.

Paradigm Shift: The Future of Work and Workplaces

Workplaces have been disrupted like never before. What can we learn from the sudden national field experiment in working and running businesses remotely? How will the aftermath of the pandemic crisis influence how and where people work and the resulting need for office space, appropriate design, amenities, and work practices?

Join Kate Lister, the Center for Real Estate Entrepreneurship, and Executive Development of the George Mason University School of Business, in a discussion of data-based insights and forecasts on the future of work and workplaces.

- Date: Wednesday, May 27, 2020
- Time: 1pm

Civic Innovation Challenge

The Civic Innovation Challenge is a research and action competition in the Smart and Connected Communities (S&CC) domain designed to build a more cohesive research-to-innovation pipeline and foster a collaborative spirit. CIVIC will fund projects that can produce significant community impact within 12 months (following a four-month planning phase) — in contrast to many community-university partnerships that take years to provide tangible benefits to communities — and have the potential for lasting impact beyond the period of the CIVIC award.

In the first stage (Stage 1), up to 12 awards per track will be made for Planning Grants – each with a budget of up to $50,000 for four months to undertake pre-development activities, including solidifying the team, maturing the project plans, and preparing to submit a well-developed full proposal for Stage 2. Only awardees of Stage 1 will be eligible to submit proposals for Stage 2.

In the second stage (Stage 2), up to four teams per track will be selected from Stage 1 award recipients to receive a full award— each with a budget of up to $1,000,000 for up to 12 months to execute and evaluate their research-centered pilot projects.

- Funding source: National Science Foundation
- Estimated Number of Awards: 24 to 32
- Estimated Funding Amount: $9,000,000
- Deadline: Stage 1: July 1, 2020; Stage 2: March 31, 2021
- Contact: David Corman, Program Director

Coastlines and People

The Coastlines and People program supports diverse, innovative, multi-institution awards that are focused on critically important coastlines and people research that is integrated with broadening participation goals. The objective of this solicitation is to support Coastal Research Hubs, structured using a convergent science approach, at the nexus between coastal sustainability, human dimensions, and coastal processes to transform understanding of interactions among natural, human-built, and social systems in coastal, populated environments.

- Funding source: National Science Foundation
- Estimated Number of Awards: 8 to 10
- Anticipated Funding Amount: $29,500,000
- Deadline: September 9, 2020
- Contact: CoPe Working Group

FY 2020 Solicitation for the Office of Science Financial Assistance Program

The Office of Science of the US Department of Energy is providing funding for research in the following program areas: Advanced Scientific Computing Research, Basic Energy Sciences, Biological and Environmental Research, Fusion Energy Sciences, High Energy Physics, and Nuclear Physics.

- Funding source: Office of Science, Department of Energy
- Amount: Up to $5,000,000
- Deadline: September 30, 2020
- Contact: Kimberlie Laing, 301-903-3026

Global Innovation Fund

The Global Innovation Fund seeks to invest in social innovations that aim to improve the lives and opportunities of millions of people in the developing world. Open to funding innovations in any sector as long as they can demonstrate their innovation improves the lives of those living on less than USD 5 PPP per day.

- Funding source: Global Innovation Fund
- Amount: $50,000 - $15,000,000
- Deadline: Proposals accepted at anytime

The Institute for a Sustainable Earth (ISE) aims to connect members of the Mason community with others across the Mason community—and with other communities, policy-makers, businesses and organizations—so that, together, we can more effectively address the world’s pressing sustainability and resilience challenges.

The ISE Newsletter provides up-to-date information on conferences, funding opportunities, and research pertaining to environmental science and sustainability. The biweekly newsletter aims to facilitate information sharing among researchers, practitioners, and relevant local, national, and international organization.
