Run by student leaders, attendees will have the opportunity to learn more about their own leadership skills. Leadership Series offers student leaders (and want to be leaders!) the chance to hone their skills.

Take the Challenge: The Personal Best Leadership Series!

Care packages don't have to be elaborate. There's no right or wrong way to put one together—it's all about what makes your Ram smile. Maybe they'd find it helpful to have a basket of snacks handy while they work. Some other ideas to consider:

- Comfort food in the kitchen
- Make your Ram smile
- Snacks to keep in their care package

After a long day on Zoom and hours spent on homework, would finding their favorite snack or snack from home make their day a little easier? Care packages are a great way to show your Ram some love from afar. An extra gift is always appreciated! Remember, you can also send a message of encouragement by sending an email or postcard to your Ram.

One time-honored tradition families look forward to is sending their first care package to their Ram. As the academic year progresses, sending additional care packages becomes increasingly important. To keep the tradition alive, many students even send care packages to their families, as well. Care packages are a great way to show your Ram that you care, even when you're not there! This year, we encourage you to send care packages to your Ram and your family. It's never too early to start planning for the next care package.

Financial Aid is Getting a New Look

The Office of Financial Aid has received approval to update their website. Financial aid will now be asked to review their “Financial Aid Tasks” within the Financial Aid section of the portal.

About the Office of Wellness Promotion

As the pandemic continues, the importance of mental health and wellness becomes increasingly clear. The Office of Wellness Promotion is committed to providing resources and support to students, faculty, and staff. To learn more about the Office of Wellness Promotion, please visit the website here.

Student Conduct: Anchoring Community and Student Relationships

Student Conduct is committed to creating a positive and supportive environment for all students. They work with students to develop life-long skills in facilitating and resolving conflicts. In addition, they promote civility and citizenship within the WCU community, and to uphold the standards of the university. Student Conduct works with students to develop life-long skills in facilitating and resolving conflicts. They help students navigate the university community and set the foundation for successful leadership.

The first six weeks of college are a vulnerable time for high-risk substance use. The pandemic, racial unrest, and upcoming U.S. election are associated with increased substance use. Substance use can lead to high-risk behaviors among students. At WCU, we have several programs to help students understand the impacts of substance use, including the Office of Wellness Promotion.

During RAM FAM weekend you are invited to attend a very special opportunity, open exclusively to students. The event will be moderated by Nyle Fort and will feature members of George Floyd’s family, including his uncle, Selwyn. The event will be a powerful conversation on Black Lives and the Legacy of George Floyd. We encourage you to attend.

WCU Celebrates Diversity for All

WCU is committed to inclusivity and diversity. They celebrate diversity for all. During RAM FAM weekend, WCU is hosting a conversation about the importance of diversity and inclusion. On-Campus Housing: Finding Your Student's First Home

As students begin to think about on-campus housing, they may wonder about the first steps they should take. The Office of Parent and Family Relations can provide valuable information and guidance. They can help students and their families navigate the housing process.

Researching early does not mean rushing into an unsafe situation. It is recommended that students research housing options early to ensure that they find a safe and secure living environment. Additionally, students should be aware of the potential for high-risk behaviors among students. At WCU, we have several programs to help students understand the impacts of substance use, including the Office of Wellness Promotion.

Real College Survey: A Look at What Students Are Really Going Through

At WCU, we're doing the #RealCollege survey to learn from students' reality. It's quick, easy, and thought-provoking. Joining Nyle are members of George Floyd's family, including his uncle, Selwyn. The conversation will be powerful, and we encourage you to attend.
