March 2020

COVID-19: Worker Health & Public Health

California’s vulnerable workers!

To restaurant and tipped workers.

assistance need. Fill out

The LA Black Worker Center has a mutual aid campaign to assist those in assistance. At Worksafe, we are doing all we can to protect the health and

COVID-19 Mutual Aid Resources for Occupational Safety and Health, in 1977 and served on our board of Mandy co-founded Worksafe’s predecessor organization, Santa Clara Center workers and their families.

the accomplishments of the women who have helped shape Silicon Valley,” honored with a lifetime achievement award at a Women of the Year

We’re proud to share that someone who would be a good fit? We are always interested in recruiting protect workers’ health, and I’m honored to have served on the board,” she Board since 2007. “Worksafe has a critical role advocating for state policies to

Dr. Carisa Harris-Adamson

& Wallach, one of California’s preeminent workers’ compensation law firms.

Construction Trades Council of California.

team:

involvement informs and inspires our workplace health and safety advocacy.

On February 21, Nicole traveled to Pepperdine School of Law in Malibu to

American Bar Association Disaster Relief Symposium

by reviewing basic infectious disease protections and creating space to discuss approach. Participants drew body maps of their injuries, hazard maps of their

On March 10, Worksafe facilitated a

Street Level Health Project Training traveling around the state educating

Education

Wildfire Smoke Emergency Standard

Recent Outreach &

With fire season fast approaching, we are urging Cal/OSHA to adopt a particulate matter in wildfire smoke.

it clarifies employer obligations and important tool for California workers — temporary regulation has been an

Wildfire Smoke Emergency Standard

whose lives and limbs are at risk every day.

must be considered in light of day-to-day realities facing vulnerable workers occupational health and safety are critical, foundational issues that powerful comment letter, which we are proud to have submitted jointly with Commission’s work be “centered on race since structural racism sits at the

is tasked with developing “a new social compact for California workers, based recommendations regarding the impact a detailed comment letter to the

of Work”

Race Equity & the “Future

— follow us on brackets

our economic system, protection from the racism that too often surges during implement California’s

Wildfire Smoke Emergency Standard

our economic system, protection from the racism that too often surges during

March 12,

Linda Delp

We are proud to announce that

We’re so grateful to had served on the board of directors

Amanda Hawes

2007. We are proud to have

Worksafe the only legal services organization in California focused on worker health and safety. Please consider supporting our work with a standards, and regulations.

worker injury, illness, and death. Moreover, it is critical that government structure informed solutions that lead to effective measures to prevent

Worker experiences and expertise [are] critical to understanding how to

but the overall health of workers, their families, and their emerging technologies on diverse

of Work

on the accomplishments of the women who have helped shape Silicon Valley,”

Dr. Carisa Harris-Adamson

& Wallach, one of California’s preeminent workers’ compensation law firms.

Construction Trades Council of California.

team:

involvement informs and inspires our workplace health and safety advocacy.

On February 21, Nicole traveled to Pepperdine School of Law in Malibu to

American Bar Association Disaster Relief Symposium

by reviewing basic infectious disease protections and creating space to discuss

approach. Participants drew body maps of their injuries, hazard maps of their

On March 10, Worksafe facilitated a

Street Level Health Project Training

traveling around the state educating

Education

Wildfire Smoke Emergency Standard

Recent Outreach &

With fire season fast approaching, we are urging Cal/OSHA to adopt a particulate matter in wildfire smoke.

it clarifies employer obligations and

important tool for California workers —

temporary regulation has been an

Wildfire Smoke Emergency Standard

whose lives and limbs are at risk every day.

must be considered in light of day-to-day realities facing vulnerable workers

occupational health and safety are critical, foundational issues that powerful comment letter, which we are proud to have submitted jointly with

Commission’s work be “centered on race since structural racism sits at the

is tasked with developing “a new social compact for California workers, based

recommendations regarding the impact

a detailed comment letter to the

of Work”

Race Equity & the “Future

— follow us on

brackets

our economic system, protection from the racism that too often surges during

implement California’s

Wildfire Smoke Emergency Standard

our economic system, protection from the racism that too often surges during

March 12,

Linda Delp

We are proud to announce that

We’re so grateful to

had served on the board of directors

Amanda Hawes

2007. We are proud to have

Worksafe the only legal services organization in California focused on

worker health and safety. Please consider supporting our work with a standards, and regulations.

worker injury, illness, and death. Moreover, it is critical that government

structure informed solutions that lead to effective measures to prevent

Worker experiences and expertise [are] critical to understanding how to

but the overall health of workers, their families, and their

emerging technologies on diverse

of Work

on the accomplishments of the women who have helped shape Silicon Valley,”

Dr. Carisa Harris-Adamson

& Wallach, one of California’s preeminent workers’ compensation law firms.

Construction Trades Council of California.

team:

involvement informs and inspires our workplace health and safety advocacy.

On February 21, Nicole traveled to Pepperdine School of Law in Malibu to

American Bar Association Disaster Relief Symposium

by reviewing basic infectious disease protections and creating space to discuss

approach. Participants drew body maps of their injuries, hazard maps of their

On March 10, Worksafe facilitated a

Street Level Health Project Training

traveling around the state educating

Education

Wildfire Smoke Emergency Standard

Recent Outreach &

With fire season fast approaching, we are urging Cal/OSHA to adopt a particulate matter in wildfire smoke.

it clarifies employer obligations and

important tool for California workers —

temporary regulation has been an

Wildfire Smoke Emergency Standard

whose lives and limbs are at risk every day.

must be considered in light of day-to-day realities facing vulnerable workers

occupational health and safety are critical, foundational issues that

powerful comment letter, which we are proud to have submitted jointly with

Commission’s work be “centered on race since structural racism sits at the

is tasked with developing “a new social compact for California workers, based

recommendations regarding the impact

a detailed comment letter to the

of Work”

Race Equity & the “Future

— follow us on

brackets

our economic system, protection from the racism that too often surges during

implement California’s

Wildfire Smoke Emergency Standard

our economic system, protection from the racism that too often surges during

March 12,

Linda Delp

We are proud to announce that

We’re so grateful to

had served on the board of directors

Amanda Hawes

2007. We are proud to have

Worksafe the only legal services organization in California focused on

worker health and safety. Please consider supporting our work with a standards, and regulations.

worker injury, illness, and death. Moreover, it is critical that government

structure informed solutions that lead to effective measures to prevent

Worker experiences and expertise [are] critical to understanding how to

but the overall health of workers, their families, and their

emerging technologies on diverse