March 2020

Wildfire Smoke: Protecting Workers' Health During a Pandemic

As California's Wildfires Get Worse, Domestic Workers Fight For Protection

With fire season fast approaching, we are urging Cal/OSHA to adopt a temporary Wildfire Smoke Emergency Standard. This is in response to workplace injuries such as respiratory issues related to workplace health and wildfires. The call to adopt a standard is also informed by our work in recent years to advocate for the health and safety rights of the vulnerable workers during the COVID-19 pandemic, along with our long-term mission to protect workers' health.

COVID-19 Mutual Aid Resources

Restaurant Opportunities Centers United is providing resources and financial assistance. At Worksafe, we are doing all we can to protect the health and safety rights of workers.

Office Workers' Rights

Worksafe has evolved into the organization we are today. Thank you, Mandy — you continue to lead Worksafe with fierce social solidarity. Mandy co-founded Worksafe's predecessor organization, Santa Clara Center for Occupational Safety and Health, in 1977 and served on our board of directors for many years. Under her thoughtful guidance, Worksafe grew and has become a leader in the workers' compensation field, with a focus on workplace health and safety.

The impact of COVID-19 is unprecedented, and many workers need assistance. The Commission's mission is to understand, analyze, and make recommendations around the current state of jobs and work and articulate a vision for work and jobs in the future. Worksafe urges that any such vision recommends around the current state of jobs and work and articulate a vision for work and jobs in the future. Worksafe urges that any such vision includes a detailed comment letter to the Governor urging immediate steps to ensure that healthcare employers fully support their employees' health.

As California's Wildfires Get Worse, Domestic Workers Fight For Protection

With fire season fast approaching, we are urging Cal/OSHA to adopt a Temporary Wildfire Smoke Emergency Standard. This is in response to workplace injuries such as respiratory issues related to workplace health and wildfires.

COVID-19 Mutual Aid Resources

Restaurant Opportunities Centers United is providing resources and financial assistance. At Worksafe, we are doing all we can to protect the health and safety rights of workers.

Office Workers' Rights

Worksafe has evolved into the organization we are today. Thank you, Mandy — you continue to lead Worksafe with fierce social solidarity. Mandy co-founded Worksafe's predecessor organization, Santa Clara Center for Occupational Safety and Health, in 1977 and served on our board of directors for many years. Under her thoughtful guidance, Worksafe grew and has become a leader in the workers' compensation field, with a focus on workplace health and safety.

The impact of COVID-19 is unprecedented, and many workers need assistance. The Commission's mission is to understand, analyze, and make recommendations around the current state of jobs and work and articulate a vision for work and jobs in the future. Worksafe urges that any such vision includes a detailed comment letter to the Governor urging immediate steps to ensure that healthcare employers fully support their employees' health.