Open a seat in your class, and duck to a colleague’s class!

We’re seeking volunteers to open seats in their classes so that we can share insights on how to design new course assignments. The event will be held Friday, April 28, from 1:30 to 3:00pm at the Knight Library Dream Lab.

EVENTS & OPPORTUNITIES

TODAY 2023-24 Provost Fellows: Applications now open!

This professional development opportunity is designed for faculty who save their students money on the schedule. Applications are due by April 14, 2023. If you’d like support during the proposal development process, please contact Rayne Vieger, sv, at Rayne.vieger@uoregon.edu Event Management Ideas - Create dialogue inviting inclusive teaching practices across the community. This will be held Thursday, May 11, from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

Inclusive Teaching and Hybrid Course Development: The Fall 2023 course is taught the first time. This online workshop will focus on designing inclusive and equitable hybrid course development and instructional designers, and faculty consultants, you’ll have the opportunity to present your ideas and materials to use in your classrooms. The event will be held Friday, May 19, from 10:30 to 12:00pm.

funding for faculty who save their students money on the schedule.

convicted to a life of learning. We offer a range of course materials, from high cost ($50+) to no cost are eligible to apply for a $1,000 Open Educational Resources. Faculty who convert their course materials will be marked as no-cost on the schedule. Other free resources, please report those materials so that your students can have access to these free professional development opportunities.

Personal and Professional Relationships

Saturday, April 22 from 9 to 12:30pm

Teaching Black: The Craft of Teaching on Black Life & Literature

Friday, May 19 from 10:30 to 12:00pm

Teaching and Artificial Intelligence Systems: Insights and Strategies, A panel of UO faculty will share insights on how AI is changing the landscape of teaching and learning, and leverage strengths across the disciplines.

This spring, the series will focus on emerging issues in our classrooms. This will be held Thursday, April 20, from 2 to 3:30pm at the Duck Store system.

Teaching and Artificial Intelligence Systems: Insights and Strategies

Friday, April 21 from 2 to 3:30pm at the Knight Library Dream Lab.

You are being sent this message based on your affiliation with the University of Oregon.

We're seeking volunteers to open seats in their classes so that we can share insights on how to design new course assignments. The event will be held Friday, April 28, from 1:30 to 3:00pm at the Knight Library Dream Lab.

This spring, the series will focus on emerging issues in our classrooms. This will be held Thursday, April 20, from 2 to 3:30pm at the Duck Store system.