Open a seat in your class, and Duck in to a colleague's class!

Observations show that on May 19th, with a celebration and opportunity to learn from each other, a new community of practice will be formed at the University of Oregon. Professor and Faculty Support Services invite you to participate in a Duck in to colleague's class event. Highlighting inclusive teaching practices across the disciplines. This provides a way to sincerely and ethically share the best of what we offer to open seats — and for other instructors to come.

Please be sure to review the information to register for Teach in.

OPPORTUNITIES & DEADLINES

David M. Bishai: Book Review: The Fall 2023 course materials are now due. Faculty must request course materials for all courses before the end of term, so that the course materials are requested from the inventory by the deadline. Even if you did not use, using OER during your teaching in Fall 2023, you can order the materials and they will be set up in Time as open seats. Please be sure that you will register for the course, and it will be marked as an open seat.

2023 Summer Teaching Institute: Join us July 11-14 for this banner week of college connection, and to design new courses and teaching materials. Applications are due on the 2nd of July, 2023. Participation is open to all academic units, who can be set up for a week of deep focus.

Virtual Teaching – With a support network of colleagues, instructional designers, and faculty mentors, you’ll explore leading-edge practices and strategies so that you can be set up for success in Fall 2023 and beyond.

Access for All – This summer, join us in exploring the opportunities and challenges of teaching at UO Online to your students. Attend the virtual workshop to learn about key practices for creating inclusive online learning environments.

ABU Funding: University of Oregon Libraries is excited to share the results of the 2022-23 ABU annual reporting and funding solicitation. These funds are awarded for projects that enhance the library’s ability to support the academic mission. Finalists will be invited to submit a proposal for the 2023-24 ABU cycle.

FINAL TORY: Core Education Course Reapproval: This is the final opportunity for courses that have yet to be approved. To claim Core Education status, these courses need to be submitted for reapproval by June 9, 2023. If you'd like support during the reapproval process, please contact Lee Rumbarger.
