July 2024

Dear Colleague ,

Whoa, just like that summer is half over! And we are finally getting some nice weather here in the Canadian Prairies.

As if summer weren't busy enough, planning all my travels for the remainder of the year has kept me very occupied!

A couple events on the docket this fall: APTA Conference in Los Angeles in September; Africa Showcase in Los Angeles, Chicago and Toronto in November! Are you planning to be at any of these events? Let me know and we can meet up!

Our Africa clients have also been busy during their high season. Atua Enkop officially opened a new property outside Amboseli National Park – Elephant Gorge Camp. And The Royal Livingstone Vic Falls Hotel in Zambia just released a great booking incentive for Q4. Make sure to check it out below!

As always, please feel free to reach out to me or book a 1:1 appointment.

Now, let's bring on August!

Warm regards,

Jenna, Ana, Paula and Jane

Have You Heard About the Loita Hills Migration?

Sometimes called the “little brother” of the Great Migration, the Loita Hills of the northern Masai Mara region host a smaller but no less spectacular animal movement each year – the passage of 30,000 or more wildebeest.

The herds arrive in May, accompanied by other antelope searching for fresh fodder. They often linger in the Loita Hills and adjoining plains until early the following year, grazing on abundant grass that isn't available in other parts of the Mara or Serengeti.

Beyond the Big Five

Everyone wants to see the “Big Five” of African wildlife during their visit to Masai Mara. But it’s often the smaller or more elusive creatures that provide enduring memory. that are rarely seen or photographed.

On morning or afternoon game drives or short guided bush walks from the MW Marriott Masai Mara Lodge, keep an eye out for animals that are rarely seen or photographed like the leopard, African wild dog, bat-eared fox, honey badger or pangolin.
