TOWN GUIDES

This one is all about Chester! It's about time I shouted out my new little town, one of the best villages for holiday shopping and festivities.

If you're looking to describe the hamlet, handmade is a good place to start. We're well known for a bevy of artists and artisans, and a clutch of shops that will satisfy even the pickiest of people. You'll find original jewelry, crafted-right-in-the-shop leather bags, ceramics, cashmere sweaters and scarves, and all manner of ornament. Spend a day here and check everyone off your list. Plan on staying for breakfast, lunch or dinner as we've got the best restaurants per capita, too. Enjoy a craft beer at our very own Little House Brewery or reviving espresso or chai at Tonic. We've highlighted a few shops on this list but click through below to see our entire round-up of shops and restaurants.

We deck the halls,

you make the memories.

Tonic

The newest addition to our town is a wonderfully welcome one! Known nationally for their fantastic line of local teas, they've expanded here to offer housemade tonics to cure what ails you, a curated selection of CBD products, and their entire range of gorgeous and giftable teas.

Flagging? Stop in for an espresso, cappuccino or chai, too.

The Herbery

Maureen has long been known for her handmade wreaths, and while it's too late to special order, she's always got some strewn about the shop and garden. Not to miss is her astonishing array of French ribbons, canisters of organic spices by the ounce, lovely topiaries (a great gift in lieu of flowers in my book), and the perfect battery-powered candles for your holiday windows (that could pass for real).

Lark

It's easy to get lost in Lark's sprawling (especially for Chester) space. We easily spied these darling hand-felted figures embodying the likeness of such icons as Ruth Bader Ginsburg, Gandhi, John Lennon, and many more. These collectible beauties are made by a woman-led, women-run Fair-Trade cooperative in the mountains of Kyrgyzstan.

Blackkat Leather

Drew Archer, the designer behind this leather atelier, creates all their stunning bags right here in the shop. Known for classic design and minimal hardware, the bags are one of those eternal investments that get better with age. Bags, briefcases, overnights, and more for men and women.

French Hen

A well-known destination for giftable goodies (many with a French accent), Laurie has done it up this year with an astonishing selection of ornaments. Blown glass hot air balloons, lovely swans, delicate angels, many of which are handmade. Puzzles, cheap and cheerful jewels, candles, and plenty of host/ess with the mostest gifts here.

Wait, there's more! See the entire list of shops (and our gift picks), plus where to park and where to eat:

Holiday Tips From A La Maid

Holidays can be beyond stressful and at a time where we're expected to be our best selves. A la Maid is here to help with three tips for holiday success from their team of experts:

Plan, Plan, Plan - Make a list of all people to buy for and keep a stock of cards and gift certificates (A La Maid!) in case you left someone out. Have holiday menus planned ahead. Make a schedule of shopping and cooking times plus a list of guests

Practice Self Care - Do whatever you can to ensure you have enough sleep, a healthy diet, and a little time to decompress.

Delegate! - There's no better time to turn to the professionals for help with food deliveries, gift wrapping, house cleaning. And A la Maid is your partner in care. Call today! 860.664.4121
