

Latinos Gaining Access to Networks for Advancement in Science

Welcome back and happy new year!

We hope you had a restful winter break and are excited to start your spring semester. L@s GANAS is here to support you as you begin your semester, visit our office for a great study space, snacks and support.

Start your semester off strong and check-out these amazing opportunities on campus (below)!

Liz Ramirez
L@s GANAS Director

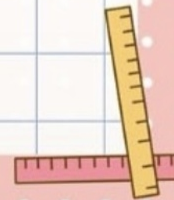

WELCOME BACK!

Spring 2024

L@s Ganas is wishing you so much luck this semester! We believe in you!

If you have any questions feel free to reach out or email Liz at eramire@uic.edu. You can also visit us at the ACE office at SSB! (we do have snacks)

QUICK TIP

Confidence and courage are your secret weapons
on the path to success.
Embrace challenges as opportunities to grow and trust that you have what it takes to conquer them all!

TIPS TO START THIS SEMESTER STRONG!

1 Find your study spots

Maybe the areas you studied in last semester did not work. Try out new spots! Find which one works for you!

2 Deep declutter

Take advantage of this first week to really organize yourself. A clean space can really make this semester less stressful.

3 Connect w/ new peers

Talk to your new peers and get to know one another. This can help you create study groups, which can help you get an A on that test!

4 Know your resources

Each class has many useful resources. Note them down and remember to reference them this semester when you need some extra help!

5 Do not ignore your syllabus!

Going through syllabus can definitely be a little boring, but there are so many small details that can really help you succeed this semester.

Illinois LSAMP SYMPOSIUM

Empowering STEM Innovations
by Uniting Change Agents

Our annual conference is an event to host activities aimed at providing professional developmental needs of ILSAMP students. The conference is designed to support the mission of the Louis Stokes Alliance for Minority Participation:

To enhance the growth of the STEM community and promote linkages and partnerships in undergraduate STEM education throughout the state of Illinois.

To respond to the National Science Foundation's efforts to cultivate a world-class, broadly inclusive and diverse science and engineering workforce, and expand general scientific literacy.

In order to accomplish these objectives, the Alliance utilizes sustained and comprehensive strategies to achieve STEM student success, scientific knowledge, and retention in their respective programs of underrepresented minority students in STEM.

The conference includes:

- Poster presentations
- Keynote and Plenary speakers
- Breakout sessions
- Workshops covering subjects identified by the Alliance Partner Coordinators

The structure and design of the conference is also aimed at preparing students for national and international conferences by offering opportunities to interact with peers and professors so they begin building personal STEM networks. Another major advantage of the conference is that it offers the opportunity for professional development to STEM faculty members at the alliance partner institutions on LSAMP best practices such as the facets of a culturally responsive learning environment.

Summer TERC Scholars Program

STEM Education Research through a Social Justice Lens (SJL)

Conduct an independent STEM education research project this summer with TERC! As part of a Research Experience for Undergraduates (REU), projects will focus on fostering equity in STEM and STEM education and enhancing transformative social justice.

As part of an eight-student cohort, SJL researchers will be mentored by TERC principal investigators and their project teams.

SJL researchers can expect to:

- receive training on essential education research methodologies
- encounter and address critical issues and perspectives of social justice in STEM and education
- receive professional development training to support pathways to graduate school, research careers, and other diverse career options
- interact with other research students at Tufts University through the Visiting Early Research Scholars' Experiences (VERSE) program

Nurture long-lasting friendships, develop professional relationships, and engage researchers across multiple STEM disciplines. The SJL will help diversify the field of STEM education research and cultivate the next generation of STEM education researchers.
