Student Spotlight

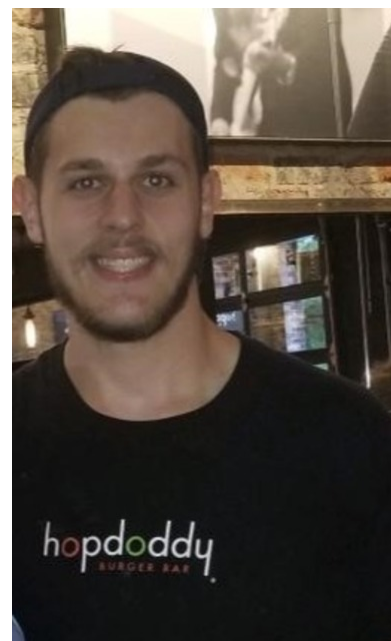

Cat Bernstein, Office Assistant

This semester, Lydia and Rachel (class of 2023) interned at the Accessible Fashion Lab on campus led by Alex Sargent-Capps. The Accessible Fashion Lab has one of a kind clothing/accessory created individually for people with physical disabilities and sensory sensitivities of any age or gender. At the Accessible Fashion Lab, they adapted clothing that people already own, taught people how to adapt their own clothing, made specialized clothing from scratch, and made specialized accessories. During this internship, Rachel and Lydia checked emails and surveys, finished a pitch deck, prepared word documents, prepared for meetings, reached out to people about making a prototype and finalized the business plan for the Assessable Fashion Lab.
