A Message from the Department Chair, Professor Suzanne Boyd

Professor Suzanne Boyd

The end of the semester is a time of high emotions. Instructors may be looking forward to getting their finals over and done, so they can assign grades then take a well-deserved break. They may be happily planning holiday events and/or travel. For students (both undergraduate and graduate), the end of term is likely a time of high stress, at the culmination of a busy semester. Some of them will not be finishing your class successfully, despite their efforts.

This next couple of weeks, I plan to take things one moment at a time, and in every interaction try to remember the other human being is dealing with a whole host of problems most of which I'm totally unaware. Many of our students have financial insecurities or family complications making final exams and the looming holiday season extra stressful.

So I'd like to thank each and every one of you for your efforts to provide an excellent education to all of our students, every day all of the fall semester....and request that, in this season of high and low spirits, you continue to see your students each as unique human beings, struggling yet full of potential, and strive to treat each of them, and yourself, with compassion.

Looking forward to seeing you all in 2020!

Best,

Suzanne Boyd
