On the Cover
Fishing with Kendall Sun, Stephanie Cormier, Jennifer Villanueva, and outdoors pursuits, Lindsay Randall took a group of students to the shipwreck site of the Ada K. Damon, a Grand Banks schooner (built in 1875, Essex, MA) used for fishing and later for sand transportation. The schooner was wrecked on December 26, 1909 in what became known as the “Great Christmas Snowstorm.” Students had the opportunity to learn more about maritime archaeology using this accessible site.

What have you been up to this month? The Peabody Institute has been developing updated virtual lessons, establishing a new award for archaeology education, and collaborating to support multicultural speakers on repatriation. And, staff continues to return to the building to make progress on the collections inventory. We are proud of our accomplishments and love sharing them with you!

Reclaiming the Ancestors: Indigenous and Black Perspectives on Repatriation, Human Rights, and Justice
September 2, 2020 at 4:00 PM EDT
Register below for this online event today.

What does it mean to turn human beings into artifacts? What happens to the living communities who lose control and ownership over their own ancestors and heritage? In exploring these questions, this panel will discuss how repatriation—the process of reclaiming and returning ancestral and human remains—can address inequality.

Diggin’ In: Peabody and MAS Digital Lecture Series
Every other Wednesday at 1:30 pm (EST) via ZOOM
