February 2024

Dear Colleague,

I had the pleasure of seeing many of you this month at the Educational Travel Conference (ETC) in Winnipeg, Canada. What an inspiring week! I met with many others during my Vancouver and Victoria sales trips. And I'm not done yet!

If you're on the U.S. West or East Coast (San Diego, Irvine, Los Angeles, Boston, Philadelphia or NYC) we eagerly anticipate seeing you next month (March) – along with many of our African clients – during the latest edition of the Emerging Destination Road Show.

Let us know if you want to attend one of our events but haven't RSVP'd yet!

Meanwhile, I'll also be representing Mara Siana and the Atua Enkop properties at the Magical Kenya roadshow in Toronto, Boston and New York next month. Talk about getting around! Let me know if you're planning to be at any of those events.

Lastly, join us tomorrow for JW Marriott's webinar, "5 Reasons to Stay at the JW Marriott Masai Mara" by registering here.

Don't forget to peek at News at a Glance below for quick and relevant information on all of our African clients!

Warm regards,

Jenna, Ana, Paula & Jane

Top 3 Hiking Trails in Sierra Leone

Beaches might be the main attraction for wannabe visitors to Sierra Leone. But the West African country has so much more to offer — nature, mountains and hiking trails are other great reasons to visit.

Hiking is an up-and-coming activity in Sierra Leone, with new trails around the country being blazed and mapped every year. It's a great way to leave the hustle and bustle of Freetown behind and discover nature just steps away from the capital, or to immerse yourself in nature for a few days, learning about Sierra Leone's culture and biodiversity.
