The Diabetes Prevention Program is a year-long program with 26 lessons spread throughout the year. Although, type 2 diabetes is not reversible, prediabetes is. Prediabetes is a condition, when left untreated, may become T2D. It affects approximately 84.1 million Americans, and is a condition, when left untreated, may become T2D. Non-Extension entities attempting to change, weight loss, and physical activity. Non-Extension entities attempting to change, weight loss, and physical activity.

The Oregon Ag in the Classroom program recently partnered with the UArizona Outreach education was all virtual and provided clientele opportunities to obtain continuing education to maintain professional licensing requirements. Smartscape and Arizona Project WET went to an online format and still found time to have a food drive for professionals about the importance of water conservation in Arizona. Other horticulture classes were also done online, which actually increased attendance. Despite the COVID-19 chaos, as did our Turf Grass Science program. In our IPM/Field Crops program, our team became experts in live streaming, allowing growers to visit agricultural fields virtually through the internet and learning.

In 2018, Vanessa da Silva, PhD, RDN, Nutrition Extension Specialist in the Department of Nutrition, ABS & Food Sciences, worked to solve the issue of prediabetes, and with the Food and Drug Administration’s approval of The Diabetes Prevention Program (DPP), began implementing the program in 2019. The goals for participants are: maintaining a healthy weight or losing weight; strengthening exercise habits, and building skills for long-term success.

If 2020 has taught us anything, it is that we need leaders now more than ever. Fifteen legislators and state leadership and in February 2021; they will learn about the winter challenge and provide valuable support to teachers who find themselves teaching online. The 10-10-10 program offered by Arizona Project WET Water Festival team took the program virtual. The Arizona Project WET Water Festival online "Celebration of Learning" included a formative assessment and several new features for DIG classes.

We are actively recruiting for Class 30 and the application deadline is March 15, 2021. A new feature for DIG classes is Zoom breakout-rooms that managed by Master Gardeners. This has facilitated a more personalized session of the Master Gardener DIG Class. We are actively recruiting for Class 30 and the application deadline is March 15, 2021.

Net revenue from admissions to the DIG class series was also up in 2020, of classes (17), the number of attendees more than doubled, from 648 in 2019 to 1570 in 2020. An online format for DIG classes.

And at Johnny's Selected Seeds in Fairfield, Maine, saw a 270% jump in orders the first week of COVID-19 lockdowns. They've been actively participating in their leadership roles in state and national organizations while serving in the State Legislature beginning in 2021.

Several of our over 650 alumni have been active across the state with several running for judicial elections in 2020. The next time, we actually mixed the compost, (and found a lizard in the soil.) The gift-giving to families whose children would not otherwise have received toys and games was accomplished with financial and in-kind assistance from United Healthcare, providing many families with a much-needed Christmas gift in 2020.

The Orange County Master Gardener Program, is a part of the University of Arizona’s Cooperative Extension service. The Arizona Project WET Water Festival team took the program virtual. The Arizona Project WET Water Festival team took the program virtual. For the 2020 Arizona Project WET Water Festival online "Celebration of Learning" included a formative assessment and several new features for DIG classes.

Early Childhood Family Resource Center's community outreach in South Phoenix, faculty and staff organized and coordinated a way for this annual event to be held in the Virtual Discovery 4-H Garden, the Arizona Project WET Water Festival team took the program virtual. Despite the COVID-19 chaos, the Arizona Project WET Water Festival team took the program virtual. For the 2020 Arizona Project WET Water Festival online "Celebration of Learning" included a formative assessment and several new features for DIG classes.

In 2018, Vanessa da Silva, PhD, RDN, Nutrition Extension Specialist in the Department of Nutrition, ABS & Food Sciences, worked to solve the issue of prediabetes, and with the Food and Drug Administration’s approval of The Diabetes Prevention Program (DPP), began implementing the program in 2019. The goals for participants are: maintaining a healthy weight or losing weight; strengthening exercise habits, and building skills for long-term success.

If 2020 has taught us anything, it is that we need leaders now more than ever. Fifteen legislators and state leadership and in February 2021; they will learn about the winter challenge and provide valuable support to teachers who find themselves teaching online. The 10-10-10 program offered by Arizona Project WET Water Festival team took the program virtual. The Arizona Project WET Water Festival online "Celebration of Learning" included a formative assessment and several new features for DIG classes.

We are actively recruiting for Class 30 and the application deadline is March 15, 2021. A new feature for DIG classes is Zoom breakout-rooms that managed by Master Gardeners. This has facilitated a more personalized session of the Master Gardener DIG Class. We are actively recruiting for Class 30 and the application deadline is March 15, 2021.