think a hybrid format will be used in the future where participants can come to the office Given all the challenges, all the Zoom meetings, all the technical glitches, and so many both went to a virtual mode and continued to help educate teachers and landscape
Our 4-H team was challenged to keep our youth engaged in 4-H in an online format.
2020, our programming was either virtual or limited in the number of people who could
By Ed Martin County Cooperative Extension. Those of you who knew Terry remember his great sense of quality water education to Arizona 4th grade students. Now in an exciting new way! rethought each of the lessons and created videos and online activities. They also came provide valuable support to teachers who find themselves teaching online. The 10-
"Oo's" and "ah's" could be heard as Magician Richard Steel, Master of Ceremonies, Replacing turfgrasses, nativegrasses can be seeded and use less water and fertilizers long-chain fatty acids) were compared in multiple experiments last winter/spring.
Turf managers, municipalities, and homeowners are seeking safe, alternative, Weeds that were not golf courses, sports fields,
Despite the COVID-19 chaos
The Desert Institute of Gardening (DIG)
Sees Big Rise in Attendance References:
there :)) and we planted a lot of different items including oregano, carrots, poppies, (2021). The Desert Institute of Gardening (DIG) was able to triple the number of people who attended in 2021, and is planning to host an in-person event in 2022. The event will feature a Keynote Speaker, potting sessions, and expert workshops on a variety of gardening topics. DIG also plans to offer a virtual option for those who cannot attend in person.

The Diabetes Prevention Program at One of our stars is a person that has lost 29 pounds since August's start of the DPP and Our current cohort, the first exclusively online DPP class at MCCE, is a wonderful group
The goals for participants are:
In 2018, Vanessa da Silva, PhD, RDN, Nutrition Extension Specialist in the Department ce, and materials can be found at Leafy Green Capital of the US: Yuma!
Walmart, Charles Schwab, South Mountain-Laveen Festival Committee, Prince Hall keeping with COVID-19 protocols.

The Spring Commission Farm and Garden Fair
The 20th annual commission farm and garden fair will be held on April 10th with a lineup of experts sharing their knowledge on gardening and food growening. Enjoy a variety of activities including potting sessions, seminars, and workshops. Whether you're a beginner or an expert, there's something for everyone. Visit www.digço.org for more information.

Project CENTRL
Leaders from across rural Arizona were selected into Class 29; meet them at Leaders from across rural Arizona were selected into Class 29; meet them at Project CENTRL.
Jan/Feb 2021 Issue #