FACULTY DIRECTOR MESSAGE

Dr. Silvia Rodriguez Espinosa, PhD, MPH (R) who joined our team over the summer!

As Associate Director of Research, Dr. Rodriguez Espinosa brings extensive research experience, training, and expertise in Community-based Participatory Research (CBPR), particularly in the area of infectious diseases. With her background in Community Health, she brings additional depth to our research portfolio. Please join us in a long overdue welcome to Hector Romero, MS-HCA (L) and Patricia Rodriguez Gefter, Stanford Medicine for your support and guidance. We look forward to your poster presentations at next year’s Community Health Symposium! Please consider donating to EPAA for your support and guidance.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

We received funding for a state wide effort against COVID-19 to engage underserved communities in the San Francisco Bay Area. This is a joint effort with the Department of Epidemiology and Population Health and Stanford Cancer Institute: Community Engagement & Outreach.

Through the power of Zoom, and in collaboration with Stanford Medicine’s HealthAlerts.Stanford.Edu, we assembled six (6) panels of leading experts in the fields of infectious disease, primary care, mental health, epidemiology, environmental safety, nutrition, health disparities, and community health. The presentations included a keynote address by Dr. Ashraful Alam, Co-founder & President of InDASH, and panelists from Stanford and partners across the region.

Best wishes to her and her family, from all of us!

To baby Ellis Sage, born on December 1st, to Dr. Wei-ting Chen, Assoc. Professor of Epidemiology and Population Health.

Thank you to all who supported our COVID-19 Community Town Hall on Wednesday, March 31, 2021, to discuss COVID-19 vaccine readiness. This special event highlighted Stanford’s local, state, national and global community-engaged research efforts.

The Community Health Symposium is an annual event established in 2002 by Stanford medical students. This special event highlights Stanford’s local, state, national and global community-engaged research efforts. The 3-hour virtual event will include expert speakers and panelists, a keynote address, group discussion, a poster session, and a panel of Stanford students and local community partners.

Please join us on January 28, 2022, for next year’s Community Health Symposium! We look forward to your poster presentations at next year’s Community Health Symposium! Please consider donating to EPAA for your support and guidance.
