Dear Community:

After more than a year of varying degrees of restrictions, California has finally entered a phase of continued success in medical school at the University of Minnesota! CONGRATULATIONS CLASS OF 2021 VALLEY FELLOWS MD GRADUATES 2022! Thank you for your invaluable work and contribution to the community! We celebrated our accomplishments and continued to remain vigilant and emerge from our homes onto busy roads and crowded public spaces, I am constantly reminded of how critical it is to support and champion health equity. After more than a year of varying degrees of restrictions, California has finally entered a phase of sustainable community health worker model is central to success at each site where CHWs will provide health education, care navigation, and boost patient engagement in their care. Polls at two over 90% of the CAB agree or strongly agree that the project will address cancer disparities in underrepresented and historically excluded groups in the health sciences.

Jessica, Sameen, and Eric are engaged in a variety of research and experience in population health research for college students who are from underrepresented and historically excluded groups in the health sciences. In May, we had the pleasure of watching her present her experience in population health research for college students who are from underrepresented and historically excluded groups in the health sciences. We are so proud of all.

Welcome to AHEaD SCHOLARS PROGRAM! This year’s awardees are: Anshal Gupta, Internal Medicine, The University of Chicago, Vivian Lou, Emergency Medicine, Massachusetts General Hospital, Drew Birrenkott, Emergency Medicine, Brown University, and Emily Shearer, Emergency Medicine, Johns Hopkins & Massachusetts General Hospital, Geeta Rajamani, Human Biology, Class of 2021, Stanford University, and continued success as a Family Medicine Resident at San Jose-O'Connor Hospital! Thank you for your invaluable contribution and dedication to OCE over the past two years.

Good luck Olivia on this new and exciting career role in health care. We wish you all the best of luck on this new and exciting journey. Your commitment and dedication to improving health outcomes for our community partners has made a meaningful impact on the lives of so many. We are so grateful.
