IN THE NEWS

ORIGIN: Science and Policy

Escaping extinction through co-evolution of forests and tigers!

by Abigail Eisenstadt

Amazonia first formed about 3.8 billion years ago are the largest contribution to the minerals andPolicy

Robert Hazen, Professor Emeritus, Museum of Natural History, and the Center for Environmental Science and Policy

by Pam Shepherd

February 10, 2022 | 4:30 to 5:45 p.m.

Join Megan Lickley, MIT, for her discussion on climate change and ways to improve new policy decisions.

February 10, 2022 | 9 to 10 a.m.

Climate Dynamics: Lickley, Climate Science Impacts

Join AOES for a quasi-monthly discussion of recent climate and weather events.

February 15, 2022 | 7 to 9 p.m.

Evening Under the Stars at George Mason Observatory

Wednesday, February 9, 2022

Deadline to submit proposals for the 2022–23 academic year is March 31, 2022, in conjunction with colleagues at one or more of the universities within the Mason Science Community.

Sign up to our email list.

To continue receiving our emails, add us to your address book.

Fairfax, VA | 22030 US
4400 University Drive

View this email

Got this as a forward?

Manage

Share this email: