A culture of meaningful recognition

I've significantly expanded the awards this year, not just because this was an unusual year, but also because we've been undergoing unprecedented change.

The last issue of the 2020 College of Science newsletter will be published Thursday, December 17, and the first newsletter of 2021 will be published Thursday, January 21.

Why is it critical to take time to nominate and celebrate such good works?

I was excited to review the names of 100-plus nominations for more than 60 candidates for the 9 awards. Thanks to the Award Nominating Committee for sorting through the submissions as all efforts are worthy. Thank you also to the people who took time to nominate their peers for you are driving the awards.

I've gotten to know a good bit more about the excellent work being done by many across the college.

Despite the virtual nature of our workplace, thanks to the annual Dean's Awards to be shared at next Tuesday's Celebration of Success, I feel I've gotten to know a good bit more about the excellent work being done by many across the college.

A culture of meaningful recognition

I've significantly expanded the awards this year, not just because this was an unusual year, but also because we've been undergoing unprecedented change.

The last issue of the 2020 College of Science newsletter will be published Thursday, December 17, and the first newsletter of 2021 will be published Thursday, January 21.

Why is it critical to take time to nominate and celebrate such good works?

I was excited to review the names of 100-plus nominations for more than 60 candidates for the 9 awards. Thanks to the Award Nominating Committee for sorting through the submissions as all efforts are worthy. Thank you also to the people who took time to nominate their peers for you are driving the awards. Thanks to the Award Nominating Committee for sorting through the submissions as all efforts are worthy. Thank you also to the people who took time to nominate their peers for you are driving the awards.