May 21, 2022 | 10 a.m. | Eagle Bank Arena
College of Science Degree Celebration 2022 and Smithsonian Under Secretary for Science and Research Ellen Stofan.
Join us for a symposium honoring Thomas Lovejoy, hosted by George Mason President Gregory Washington

The School of Systems Biology invites SSB faculty to celebrate the outstanding student accomplishments in the

May 18, 2022 | 11 a.m. to noon
Wednesday, May 11, 2022
ORIEI will be holding an Informational Q&A on inclusive excellence. Projects may be either highly scholarly or highly practical/applicable.

scholarship and creative activities addressing the myriad issues on the theme of anti-racism and

Initiative. The ARIE Seed Funding initiative emerged as one of the recommendations from the ARIE

announcement

Anti-Racism and Inclusive Excellence Task Force funding culture.

The silver rating highlights campuses that engage be honored by Exercise is Medicine® for its designation from

George Mason University earned a silver-level Exercise is Medicine honors led by disciplinary team coordinated by scientists at Mason's cells within hours to rapidly measure neutralizing antibodies. This research is conducted by the cross-

Geography and Geoinformation Science third to a half of the staff members have said they

In more than a dozen nursing home facilities, a unvaccinated schools in Fairfax and Loudoun counties. The aim of the program is to inspire the next generation of

Astronomy

The K12 Quantum Workforce Development Project, which partners on the K12 Quantum

Workforce Development Project leads the Hanley Color Lab, studying the function and experimentally testing decision-making in wild, untrained animals. If you want to talk birds, stop by his office at the SciTech campus.

This week's #FacultyFriday features

Anne Becker, master's student in life sciences, evolutionary biology, was selected for an honorable neuroscience

biology

in the scientific literature related to their topic, to challenges they faced along the way and how future

In events like this, we encourage our scientific community to attend and, you guessed it, ask questions

Last week, we kicked off our end of semester research celebration with the College's eleventh annual researchers, the educators who nominate and nurture them, as well as the mentors who guide them.

Between now and the end of the semester, we have several opportunities to celebrate our student opportunities designed to foster our students' scientific curiosity and exploration.

Some may view a person who asks many questions as overly curious or perhaps even a troublemaker

As one of the largest contributors to George Mason University's R1 status, our College of Science

Funding Limit: Two tiers: Up to $25,000 and Up to $50,000
Proposal Due Date: June 30, 2022

Dr. Jagadish Shukla

Considered

Mason scientist studies methods for (MOP), is conducting research to test the efficiency and (CIDR), is conducting research to test the efficiency and

More on Shukla's recognition

University of Pennsylvania. Madeleine

(COLA) and modernizing India's weather enterprise to

More on this study

George Mason University recently continued its fellowships in the country. The 2022 recipients of the Mason students, alumna

More on the recipients

Mason Center for Infectious Disease Research (CIDR)