Programs & Events

Experiencing History with our School Tours!

On March 20 and 22, four fifth-grade classes from Farmer Elementary in Louisville visited Liberty Hall. The students learned about early Kentucky life by touring the house, examining primary sources, playing games based on Liberty Hall collections, and participating in hands-on activities. Highlights included reading a letter by 8-year-old Orlando Brown, racing to assemble "dissected maps" based on one in John Brown's 1804 atlas and hands-on kitchen activities, like grinding sugar and smelling freshly grated nutmeg.
