CDS: Mason Online Pandemic Modeling Forum
August 7, 2020 | 10:00 - 11:00 AM CMAI Virtual Colloquium:
Thursday, August 6, 2020
September 2, 2020

Don't miss this virtual event with games, prizes and more.

Save the Date: Fourth Annual Science Connect

New Exoplanet Discovery

by Francis Reddy and Tracy Mason

World Orbiting a Unique Young Star including

across many media outlets tantrums. The discovery was also highlighted astronomers, and its star throws vicious temper youngest planetary systems ever observed by than 32 light-years from Earth, is among the the journal Nature. AU Microscopii, located less

According to the Research, including the surprising risk of disease dust storms carry.

that was heading or the United States station WUSA9

AOES
headed to the U.S.
Saharan dust storm

According to about the partnership, which will build on Mason's reputation for climate science research.

global water cycle and interactions between the land surface and the atmosphere. Learn more of climate dynamics and climate modeling experts in the United States. COLA will host the connections with like-minded peers. This VLC is open to all

Problem Solving,' the VLC lets students take part in programs to Community (VLC) this fall. Themed 'Scientific Inquiry and Global

The College of Science is launching its first Virtual Learning competencies, representatives from each department were in attendance to provide their expertise.

our undergraduate programs from the deans, chairs, and administrators from the College of Science

On June 30, the College of Science hosted a virtual open house. Prospective students learned about

Department Showcase recap

from the timeline noted in President Washington's message, students, faculty and staff will be cleared year. Thank you to our scientists, committee members, faculty and staff for your scientific expertise and establishing safety protocols and robust learning and research experiences for the upcoming academic Across our College, many teams prepare in earnest for your

by Dean Fernando R. Miralles-Wilhelm

In the News

Message from the Dean

Research & Discovery

Mason Science Community

Celebrate retired faculty

Each year, the College graduates a new class of future scientists, taught and mentored by some of the most distinguished individuals in

Our scientists were recognized across a range of fields, and our students were awarded

honor and distinction at local, national and international levels.

Message from the Dean

From the timeline noted in President Washington's message, students, faculty and staff will be cleared

year. Thank you to our scientists, committee members, faculty and staff for your scientific expertise and

establishing safety protocols and robust learning and research experiences for the upcoming academic

by Laura Powers

Celebrate retired faculty

Our scientists were recognized across a

range of fields, and our students were awarded

honor and distinction at local, national and

international levels.

Message from the Dean

From the timeline noted in President Washington's message, students, faculty and staff will be cleared

year. Thank you to our scientists, committee members, faculty and staff for your scientific expertise and

establishing safety protocols and robust learning and research experiences for the upcoming academic

by Laura Powers

Celebrate retired faculty

Our scientists were recognized across a

range of fields, and our students were awarded

honor and distinction at local, national and

international levels.

Message from the Dean

From the timeline noted in President Washington's message, students, faculty and staff will be cleared

year. Thank you to our scientists, committee members, faculty and staff for your scientific expertise and

establishing safety protocols and robust learning and research experiences for the upcoming academic

by Laura Powers

Celebrate retired faculty

Our scientists were recognized across a

range of fields, and our students were awarded

honor and distinction at local, national and

international levels.

Message from the Dean

From the timeline noted in President Washington's message, students, faculty and staff will be cleared

year. Thank you to our scientists, committee members, faculty and staff for your scientific expertise and

establishing safety protocols and robust learning and research experiences for the upcoming academic

by Laura Powers

Celebrate retired faculty

Our scientists were recognized across a

range of fields, and our students were awarded

honor and distinction at local, national and

international levels.

Message from the Dean

From the timeline noted in President Washington's message, students, faculty and staff will be cleared

year. Thank you to our scientists, committee members, faculty and staff for your scientific expertise and

establishing safety protocols and robust learning and research experiences for the upcoming academic

by Laura Powers

Celebrate retired faculty

Our scientists were recognized across a

range of fields, and our students were awarded

honor and distinction at local, national and

international levels.

Message from the Dean

From the timeline noted in President Washington's message, students, faculty and staff will be cleared

year. Thank you to our scientists, committee members, faculty and staff for your scientific expertise and

establishing safety protocols and robust learning and research experiences for the upcoming academic

by Laura Powers

Celebrate retired faculty

Our scientists were recognized across a

range of fields, and our students were awarded

honor and distinction at local, national and

international levels.

Message from the Dean

From the timeline noted in President Washington's message, students, faculty and staff will be cleared

year. Thank you to our scientists, committee members, faculty and staff for your scientific expertise and

establishing safety protocols and robust learning and research experiences for the upcoming academic

by Laura Powers

Celebrate retired faculty

Our scientists were recognized across a

range of fields, and our students were awarded

honor and distinction at local, national and

international levels.