CINA Open RFP 20-21

News

The Evolution of Human Trafficking During the COVID-19 Pandemic | Council on Foreign Relations

Meet the team

New Mexico University explored the connections between Mexican drug cartels and U.S.-based gangs and how the public perceives drug cartels and drug cartels and the public and the media. The research team was led by Assistant Professor of Sociology and Criminal Justice, Dr. Elizabeth Lizaso. The team used a combination of traditional and online methods to conduct the research.

Over a recent summer, a faculty-student research team from Eastern New Mexico University conducted a study on the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on human trafficking. The research team was led by Professor of Criminal Justice and Sociology, Dr. Crysta Price. The team used a combination of traditional and online methods to conduct the research.

The Annual Meeting reflected on the last 12 months during which we helped plan and execute our next series of virtual events. The Annual Meeting featured updates from the CINA Science Committee, a look at the emerging challenge landscape with live Q&A sessions for each, an excellent keynote address from William Bryan and data tells us about gangs.

On August 4, 2020, a group of researchers from CINA discussed their findings on how the COVID-19 pandemic has impacted human trafficking. The researchers discussed how the pandemic has affected the ability of traffickers to conduct their operations and how law enforcement agencies have adapted to these changing circumstances.

The Annual Meeting reflected on the last 12 months during which we helped plan and execute our next series of virtual events. The Annual Meeting featured updates from the CINA Science Committee, a look at the emerging challenge landscape with live Q&A sessions for each, an excellent keynote address from William Bryan and data tells us about gangs.

On August 4, 2020, a group of researchers from CINA discussed their findings on how the COVID-19 pandemic has impacted human trafficking. The researchers discussed how the pandemic has affected the ability of traffickers to conduct their operations and how law enforcement agencies have adapted to these changing circumstances.

The Annual Meeting reflected on the last 12 months during which we helped plan and execute our next series of virtual events. The Annual Meeting featured updates from the CINA Science Committee, a look at the emerging challenge landscape with live Q&A sessions for each, an excellent keynote address from William Bryan and data tells us about gangs.

On August 4, 2020, a group of researchers from CINA discussed their findings on how the COVID-19 pandemic has impacted human trafficking. The researchers discussed how the pandemic has affected the ability of traffickers to conduct their operations and how law enforcement agencies have adapted to these changing circumstances.

The Annual Meeting reflected on the last 12 months during which we helped plan and execute our next series of virtual events. The Annual Meeting featured updates from the CINA Science Committee, a look at the emerging challenge landscape with live Q&A sessions for each, an excellent keynote address from William Bryan and data tells us about gangs.

On August 4, 2020, a group of researchers from CINA discussed their findings on how the COVID-19 pandemic has impacted human trafficking. The researchers discussed how the pandemic has affected the ability of traffickers to conduct their operations and how law enforcement agencies have adapted to these changing circumstances.

The Annual Meeting reflected on the last 12 months during which we helped plan and execute our next series of virtual events. The Annual Meeting featured updates from the CINA Science Committee, a look at the emerging challenge landscape with live Q&A sessions for each, an excellent keynote address from William Bryan and data tells us about gangs.

On August 4, 2020, a group of researchers from CINA discussed their findings on how the COVID-19 pandemic has impacted human trafficking. The researchers discussed how the pandemic has affected the ability of traffickers to conduct their operations and how law enforcement agencies have adapted to these changing circumstances.