In their own words, five students reflect on what campus life has been like during the pandemic.

I initially hoped this pandemic would only last a few weeks, but here we are, over a year later. I joined the ENTP Society last year as a first-year student and have participated and enjoyed class discussions, but being asked to learn and study in the same environment that I'm in now, which includes a neighborhood block, or a great conversation with my mother. Any stress from the current situation I have has been so helpful and understanding, even if they do not completely understand what I'm going through. During this time, I have leaned primarily on my family members. They have created reminders and calendars on my phone to stay organized and prevent me from forgetting important dates and appointments.

What's fall been like? How has your life changed? For me, my dates have changed. I love to go there, get a cup of coffee, and do my homework. They have plenty of outlets. In neighboring Highwood there is a small coffee shop called Tala Roasters. I love to go there, get a cup of coffee, and do my homework. They have plenty of outlets. What advice do you have for new students? I would suggest taking notes right away and not procrastinate with your homework. What's your favorite location on campus? My favorite location is the Oppenheimer Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation. Do you have a big idea that changes student life? I'm actually thinking of starting an event that involves a group of people who enjoy playing a instrument. This event will be called the “OCTOBER SESSION”.

This is the first time I've lived away from home and not been able to walk by, sit next to, or live down the hall. What advice do you have for new students? Find the time and place that suit you best and makes you feel most welcome and engaged. What's your favorite location on campus? My favorite location is the world’s first permanent cafe with a 3D printer, “The Cloud Cafe”. Do you have a big idea that changes student life? I'm planning to host a weekly open mic night called “The Clubhouse Karaoke Session”.

Learning remotely was a big challenge for me in the beginning. I am an asynchronous student and had to think of ways to let my professors know that I am interested in learning the material.
