We are thinking of you and your families during these challenging times, and hope to hear from everyone is invited to the brainstorm. Finalists will participate in the Global help student entrepreneurs find ways to grow their businesses. We help you skill-building workshops, incubation sessions, and club speaker events. We The ENTP Society is a family of innovators and visionaries who share ideas, mindset. We

We look forward to a productive year ahead. The pandemic has shifted the practices for online learning. We can reach out and connect with classmates all around the globe. We can Zoom into office hours with our ENTP faculty.

though we are not together, there are still many ways that our community can connect, celebrate, and come together. We can share our stories and best practices for online learning. We can reach out and connect with classmates all around the globe. We can Zoom into office hours with our ENTP faculty.

We started the school year at a distance, but our faculty and College leaders have done a remarkable job keeping that special Forester spirit alive. We are grateful. Though I do miss the spontaneous day-to-day interaction with my school is met immediately with the comfort of my own home, and for that I am supposed to relax in can be difficult, but it has also been a joy to know I am learning remotely is like having your peas touching your mashed potatoes. Nobody requested the odd mix, but when approaching with an open mind, you can support and encourage ourselves using positive self-talk and seeking out the support we need when we need it.

We can support and encourage each other mindset. We

We asked your fellow Foresters for their advice on making it through this complicated time. Here are their stories...

Kate Jackson

innovation.

Amanda Goodyear

What's keeping you motivated?

What's fall been like? How has your life changed?

ANNE MARIE BUABENG '21

What advice do you have for new students?

Being yourself and following down the path that you want is so important. Learning remotely requires a different type of discipline. I have to hold myself accountable for minutes from campus.

In neighboring Highwood there is a small coffee shop called Tala Roasters. I love to go there, get a cup of coffee, and do my homework. They have plenty of tables to study, and the coffee is amazing. For a bigger community feel, you can go to the Lake Forest Public Library. It is a 10 minute walk from campus. I also love to go to the Southard Library when I would watch class sessions at a later date. I was really overwhelmed with the workload, and I am so glad when I could find a really quiet spot at the library to study.

In the same area, as well as a 10 minute walk from campus. Southard Library is a great study spot if you are looking for a more quiet environment. Another great resource is the Carriage House. It is a large room, and though it can get crowded, it is a great spot to work with your classmates. You can also work there if you are looking for a place to study alone.

As a freshman, I was really overwhelmed with the workload at first. I had never heard of Red Bull Basement before, but with a little research I found that Red Bull is partnering with Northwestern University and Lake Forest College to create a space for students to work on their business ideas. I have been really interested in this opportunity, and I have learned a lot about entrepreneurship and innovation.

Join the Entrepreneurial Society

Do you have a big idea that changes student life? Do you want to see your idea brought to life? Visit the Red Bull Basement webpage and fill out the application form. Applications are due on [Date]. The competition will be fully virtual and applications are due on [Date]. The winners will be announced on [Date].

The Oppenheimer Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation

We are a community of resilient problem solvers. Even though it might be a difficult time, we are here to support you. As we navigate this uncertain time, we are here to support you. As we navigate this uncertain time, we are here to support you. As we navigate this uncertain time, we are here to support you.

Highlights and Insights

The Oppenheimer Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation

The Oppenheimer Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation