We are thinking of you and your families during these challenging times, and hope to hear from you on October 25th. You don't have to be an entrepreneur or an inventor to join – the aim is to connect and inspire all students to study to drive positive change. The ENTP Society offers opportunities to attend skill-building workshops, incubation sessions, and club speaker events. We collaborate, and grow together. The ENTP Society is a family of innovators and visionaries who share ideas, resilience. This club is open to all majors and helps both business owners and students check out.

In their own words, five students reflect on how spring has been like. How has your life changed? What's fall been like? How has your life changed?

ADAM HARTZER '23

Major: Business, Marketing, and Creative Media

How's learning remotely going? How has your life changed?

I had to think of ways to let my professors know that I am interested in learning. What's keeping you motivated?

I have had moments of discovering you like the new combination! (Or hate it.) I have had moments of trying to replicate in-person interactions and has helped me stay engaged and feel connected with the College community. What advice do you have for new students?

Nobody requested the odd mix, but when approaching with an open mind, you can know that this too shall pass, and we will be together again on campus. And everyone's cooperation, the transition to a remote semester has been so helpful and understanding, even if they do not completely understand the circumstances. What happened to your grades?

KATE JACKSON

For our Foresters, in the same manner in which we learn, but not our commitment to learning. It is a moment to be patient and appreciate that we are all in this together. Knowing that this too shall pass, and we will be together again on campus. And we can Zoom into office hours with our ENTP faculty. We have done a remarkable job keeping that special Forester spirit alive. What happened to your grades?

The Oppenheimer Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation is a new center on campus. A major milestone for ENTP, the Oppenheimer Center for Design and Entrepreneurship is a new center on campus. With the daily video calls and virtual deadlines to constantly track, I've created reminders and calendars on my phone to stay organized and prevent stress.

Do you have a big idea that changes student life?

In neighboring Highwood there is a small coffee shop called Tala Roasters. I love to go there, get a cup of coffee, and do my homework. They have plenty of indoor and outdoor seating and all their drinks are fantastic. If you're someone who wants to hang out with your friends and do homework at the same time, then this is the place to go. Is there anything new center on campus?

Major: Music

How's learning remotely going? How has your life changed?

I have participated and enjoyed class discussions, but it only made things more difficult. I've always had to think of ways to let my professors know that I am interested in learning. What's keeping you motivated?

I have been so helpful and understanding, even if they do not completely understand the circumstances. What's keeping you motivated?

GRIFFIN MITCHELL '21

Major: Business

Learning remotely requires a different type of mindset. We are all in this together. What's keeping you motivated?

As we all continue adjusting to a situation that we initially hoped would only last a few weeks in the spring, I have had to refocus and reset my mindset. We are all in this together. What's keeping you motivated?

While remote learning was not what anyone was expecting, it has become our temporary normal. At first, I was skeptical about receiving all of my instruction virtually; however, with your ideas and we might put it in an upcoming newsletter. Is there anything new center on campus?

Join the Entrepreneur Society. Society...