October 25th
This year’s competition will be fully virtual and applications are due by the end of this month. Everyone is invited to participate. Finalists will present their ideas and compete in the Global Finals. Get ready to challenge the status quo by coming up with ideas that can lead to a better future.

Join the Entrepreneurial Society to further develop a growth mindset, engage in team collaboration, and build a community of resilient problem solvers. Even though it might seem like a complicated time, here are their stories...

In their own words, five students reflect on how the pandemic has changed their college experience.
