New Fabrication Structure and Request Process LIVE in PADUA!
In support of the new Fixed Assets module, the new fabrication structure and request process is now available in PADUA.

What you need to know

- The new structure is shifting to a new project with a specific Fabrication Project Type, as opposed to new tasks. The following project types have been added/updated:
  - UCSD Fabrication General Project - Fabrications for non sponsored projects
  - UCSD Fabrication Sponsored Project - Fabrications for sponsored projects
  - UCSD Sponsored Project - Non fabrication sponsored projects
  - DNU UCSD Sponsor Project - Sponsored projects created prior to 09/21/2023 (previously UCSD Sponsor Project)
- You will NOT need to create 1 project for each fabrication. If you have a need for multiple fabrications, all that is needed will be one specific Fabrication Project, and within that project additional task(s) can be created for each fabrication.
- You will NOT need to convert existing fabrication tasks to the new project structure. If you already have fabrication tasks that are still in progress, you can continue to use the existing POETAF combinations that exist for them today. This new structure will only apply to NEW awards or NEW fabrications created beginning 09/25/2023.

Please join us at 10:05 AM on Zoom during the following additional Office Hours to learn more about this structure, how to request a new fabrication project through PADUA, and a reminder on which expenditure types/account codes to use for fabrications:

- Monday October 2, 2023

Sponsored Projects Report Errors Due to Project Type Changes
Changes were made in Oracle to the values for Project Type for sponsored projects. Many reports use this value either to filter for sponsored projects or derive logic specific to sponsored projects. The BI & Financial Reporting Team has been investigating and resolving impacted reports, but if you run a report and either sponsored projects are missing data or they appear where they should not, please submit a Services & Support ticket with the report name and a screenshot of what you’re seeing (or not seeing).

Seeking Input on Oracle Training Development
Business & Financial Services is excited to announce the launch of an IdeaWave campaign to gather your feedback on an upcoming Finance Training Program. We’re looking for Oracle users of all levels of experience to share their ideas on which topics this self-paced training should cover. We welcome you to participate prior to the launch of this course. Your involvement will help us create a comprehensive learning experience and also empower you to influence the specific topics you’d like to further explore in the training. Review the graphic below for more information. Submissions will close on October 19th.

Resolved: Access to Cognos Reports
Earlier this month when someone was granted the Oracle BI Consumer JR role, they were not being given access to Cognos reports as well. This has been corrected and anyone that received the role this month, and moving forward, should have access to both Oracle and Cognos reporting.

Tips & Tricks

Planning to attend a conference or business meeting where expenses are bundled or “All-Inclusive”?
When it comes to attending a conference where expenses such as registration fees, lodging and/or meals are bundled (e.g. Gordon Research Conference), it is crucial to understand the breakdown of fees to ensure that you stay within the UC maximum for lodging and meals at your conference’s specific location. To do this, remember to reach out to the conference organizers to request a detailed breakdown. To streamline your reimbursement process and avoid potential delays, consider requesting the fee breakdown either before, during, or after your trip by emailing the conference organizers. Typically, the conference organizers can provide this breakdown by email within 24-48 hours.
The requirement for a breakdown of fees applies whenever lodging or meals are consolidated with other expenses, without presenting a detailed breakdown for each individual cost. So for any all-inclusive or bundle deals, ensure you are requesting a detailed itemization from the vendor and attaching it to your expense report prior to submitting.

Things to Remember When Submitting a Travel Expense Report

Does your travel expense report always get returned? Does a Central Office auditor always reach out to you requesting additional information about your trip? The Central Office created this checklist with helpful reminders on what is required in a Travel Expense Report. We recommend that you download the checklist and/or bookmark it in your browser of choice so that you keep it handy when creating and submitting travel expense reports. For more information on which receipts are required when submitting a travel expense report, check out the Travel Receipts: Reimbursement Requirements Blink Page.
